

There were earlier meetings, probably in 1948; because we were going in and out of the Dulce area at that time with troops. There was a technology trade. The Technology involved an atomic ship (saucer). actually more than one ship

W.S. - Was the trade actually worth it in the long run?

P.F.B. - That is my main concern. On our last trip in (Oct. 20, 85) we weren't out for kicks. An Atomic Ship Crashed up there. And we only know the half of the consequences involved.

W.S. - Was this similar to the Cash-Landrum Ship?

P.F.B. - Yes, its the same one exactly. It matches the exact discription and we know precisely now what it looks like. Gabe (Gabriel Valdez) now has been in there on foot and Verified the different things that I had picked up.

It came in - they view things from a view screen, they don't have port holes in it. Basically it came in and hit a tree which apparently did some damage, throwing it out of
