

Since I have no hoax to get across with the aid of daily gossip columnists, "strip tease" sensational weeklies, hosts of charlatans and impostors, operating on suspicious photographs with strange "biometric" devices unknown to any laboratory, or "revelations" made on the radio and to clubs of saucer fans and nuisances, I fear I must end this Hunrath-Wilkinson story with what sounds like an anti-climax.

There has appeared a book in which two gentlemen speak of using the Ouija-board and short-wave radio contacts with saucer men from Maser, said to be the planet Mars. Thence they proceed to automatic writing, in the course of which pops up this same Prince Regga of Mars, called Prince Reggs above. There also appears the portentous figure of one Zo, a gentleman with seven children, said to hail from the planet Neptune, but with a stop-off bungalow on Mars. It is also curious—and here is one of the pitfalls of saucer fantasists who drag into the saucer theme "leit-motivs" from American pre-history, that these two gentlemen profess to be philosophers and scientists. One, who has appended his signature to an affidavit attesting the veracity and authenticity of still another gentleman's alleged stop-watch talk by telepathy and gesture with an entity in a landed saucer from "Venus"—a hoax impure and unsimple—is said to be an anthropologist, or prehistorian, and an authority on Indian dances (as he may well be, for aught I know). His collaborator merely professes to be a "student of philosophy and science," employed, very oddly in relation to these studies, on the Santa Fé and New Mexico Railroad. It seems that some time before their book appeared, the publisher in California was sorely stricken with threats from someone to blow up his printery, and with dire menaces from another, suspected to be Wilbur J. Wilkins, who alleged that all the material in this book was "snitched," or as the Artful Dodger said in Oliver Twist, "prigged" from him.

I am reminded in this mystery of a comic song which was howled, roared and barrel-organged when I was a boy, in the years of the Boer or South African War of 1899-1901. It had a refrain, a very pathetic refrain, as follows:

"Bill Bailey, won't you please COME HOME?"

My friend, Mr. Gray Barker, who at Clarksburg, West Virginia, runs a spritely little magazine called the "Saucerian," says that in 1920 there was a song in America, of which the refrain ran:

"Mr. Gentle-man
Tell my Mammy to come back home.
I'm so alone."

I advise these gentlemen, as also another Californian who claims to have had a very remarkable ride in a saucer from White Sands proving grounds to New York and Washington, D.C., and back again, not to adventure onto the shifting sands of ancient American history and Atlantean archaeology, when indicting these veracious books. Such adventures tend to draw the malign eyes of skeptics their way.

In April, 1954, I received an air-mail letter from a friend in California reporting a startling event in the flying-saucer drama.

"An unconfirmable report that President Eisenhower, in a recent visit to the Edwards Air Force base, California, was informed that a recent investigation of five types of flying saucers by experts and technicians there, has thrown them all into confusion and consternation. It is alleged that the experts have reported on the materialization and subsequent dematerialization, into a fourth-dimension of invisibility, of some of the mysterious types of non-terrestrial aeroforms, or unidentified flying objects."

There may be doubt whether President Eisenhower visited the Edwards Air Force base in person. It may be that he delegated a general to go there on his behalf. But from a reliable source in Southern California, I am assured that these five saucers actually did land voluntarily at this Edwards Air Force base. They were discs of different types and their entities invited the technicians and scientists to inspect their aeroforms and witness a demonstration of their powers.

Says my informant, who has a doctorate from an American university:

"I can positively assure you that a friend of mine visited Edwards Air Force base, soon after this demonstration. He was accompanied by (1): a man prominent in the Hearst news syndicate; (2): a bishop of either the Methodist or the Episcopal Church; (3): a former confidential adviser of ex-President Truman. I cannot release to you their names at this moment.

"I have also confirmatory reports by two other persons, but these would not carry weight by themselves. The story has gotten out all over the U.S., but NOT in public prints or newspapers. It was, of course, given the horse-laugh by the Pentagon and the Air Command at Washington, D.C. But the basic facts are that some of our technicians and scientists have actually 'gone off the deep end' mentally, when the saucer entities confronted them with new, and to them, inexplicable physical data. The entities demonstrated before their eyes that they could dematerialize and materialize themselves—become alternately visible and invisible. All this for our bright boys—now you see it, and now you don't!

"I congratulate you on the fine work you are doing in the flying-saucer field, and for the open-minded scholarship and distinguished public service in these Days of Confusion. I have nothing but admiration for it, and the almost endless labor of collecting and organizing such difficult material. It is certainly an exceptionally fine piece of work."

This learned gentleman adds that he firmly believes that all these non-terrestrial aeroforms we call flying saucers, are Mutants, who can and do change size, shape, color, mode of action, etc.:

"They also become transparent or nearly so—all while under observation. This points to the fact that the matter of which they are composed is not matter as we know it, but is, in fact, the etheric prototype—etheric steel, etc. Years ago, the Mark Probert communicators told us that it was correct to speak of etheric and/or astral copper, etc., from which our own terrestrial metals are derivatives. Thus, all the aeroforms (from space) may be said to be, as you say on page 296 of your 'Flying Saucers on the Attack,' of an order of matter akin to our own, but actually, only in a limited way. The matter is of extreme etheric density and high frequency of subatomic motion—hence, susceptible of mental control. So, etheric and etherians are legitimate terms for the whole body of these phenomena.

"In the long run, the matter of mental control will be found NOT to conflict with their use of—on occasion—elaborate apparatus. And, as you know, the theory of doubles is ancient and sound metaphysics and makes good science. The attempt to divorce physics from metaphysics, in dealing with these phenomena, is a pure dichotomy and can only delay and mislead. Incidentally, I may add, as you realize, that there is nothing 'mystical' about the use of paranormal means of information, so long as one is not subservient to the communications. . . ."

As there has been, in some quarters in the United States, a tendency to align these saucer entities with ghosts or exanimate entities from our earth, what this writer says is of interest:

"We find that what are called ghosts, or average exanimate humans in the world beyond our plane—the world of the so-called dead—or astral entities, have no knowledge of, and know nothing about these Etherian races and cultures of the flying saucers. The latter phenomena are entirely out of their vibratory range. But a few highly developed exanimate humans can and do study these Etherians. They gave us the fourth dimensional (4 D), or etheric account in 1946; and while the basic ideas have been expanded, they have not been contradicted by any subsequent data—a good test of any hypothesis. These saucer phenomena will never be understood until this thesis is grasped and understood. As a matter of public service, we MUST make the interpretation at least reasonably clear, and at least offer it to the public without propaganda. It has run us and our society into the red often, and we make no profit. I am very much interested in making the fourth-dimensional explanation clearly intelligible to persons like yourself, with a most superior mental equipment and a wide audience. The trouble is that the 'new' physics is new, and does not go along with the old text-book physics, the latter having come to an impasse. What is wanted is a new start, rather than an attempt at re-working the old concepts."

The writer accompanies his interesting letter with a diagram based on data communicated, he says, by the Etherian guides and instructors whose aeroforms are of the fourth-dimensional pattern, convertible into the third dimension of our own world, and back again. It shows

Events which had been reported in the press and by radio before security regulations were imposed by the Army Air Force (whose name was changed to the Air Force in that very year, 1947) indicate that material from the wrecked UFO was shuttled by high-security government transportation from base to base and that the remains of the UFO and the dead occupants (one of whom was reportedly alive when found) are under high-security guard at CIA headquarters at Langley, Virginia.

Those of us who can recall the years before 1947, which was the year of the first well-publicized saucer "invasion," remember reading purportedly factual accounts about what might have been called saucers long before they became popular. These were puzzling reports, carried in meteorological and astronomical journals, containing references to giant airborne objects in the night sky, neither airships nor meteors.

An example from the Monthly Weather Review (March 1904):

Lieutenant Frank H. Schofield, commanding the U.S.S. Supply, reported that he and his crew on February 24, 1904, had clearly viewed three enormous luminous objects moving in unison across the night sky, far at sea in the Atlantic, with the largest of them having a diameter six times that of the sun.

In like vein the journal of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada (March 1913) carried a compilation of reports by Professor Chant of Toronto about unidentified flying objects crossing east to west along the U.S.-Canadian border at a time that subsequent checks revealed no "human" airships had been aloft that night. The reports, gathered from a great number of observers along the route, agreed that a huge luminous body traveled straight across the sky, that the "body was composed of three or four parts with a tail to each part" and as it disappeared a second and third grouping followed. "There were probably thirty or thirty-two such bodies during the period of an hour . . . they moved in fours, threes, and twos, abreast of one another. So perfect was this line-up that it seemed almost as if an aerial fleet were maneuvering. . . ."

There were other reports of UFOs prior to 1947 but they were relatively few compared to the many thousands that have since found their way into the world press, radio, and television. (There are reported to be 10,000 pages of classified UFO documents in CIA headquarters alone.) The increasing flood of these reports points up a pertinent fact: The frequency of UFO sightings increases in direct proportion to our scientific and technological development. Radar installations which detect UFOs are an additional check to visual observations, while increasing numbers of plane flights bring pilots and sometimes passengers into startling proximity to unidentified flying objects, and astronauts frequently encounter them in space, all of which are comparatively recent developments.

Nevertheless, extreme interest in UFOs is still considered something of an aberration, possibly because no concrete proof of any such craft is known to have been found or identified as such. In effect there is no corpus delicti.

If there were and if it had been found in territory controlled by any of the great powers or even of some of the lesser powers it would, quite understandably, have been covered up until the national authorities in question decided what to do about it or how to make it serve their own interests and purposes.

This is possibly the explanation of the Roswell Incident. However, far from being just an interesting mystery, one that has had its day in the press and then subsided, the Roswell Incident is still going on. According to reports, the remains of the craft are still being studied (perhaps with a view to duplication), research is continuing on the composition of the unfamiliar metallic (and other) portions of the space vehicle, unidentifiable hieroglyphic figures reportedly discovered on the interior controls are being subject to computer breakdown, and the cell and internal structure of the humanoid though alien crew members is still undergoing medical analysis. From

5 Descriptions of the Aliens

Meade Layne, now deceased, former director of Borderland Sciences Research Foundation, Vista, California, made some memos, probably in 1949, concerning reports on some of the alleged participants in this scientific "call-up." A memo has been furnished by Mr. Reilly Crabb, present director of Borderland Sciences Research Foundation.

Layne's memo states that "on the basis of present information" he accepted the facts of the story as authentic. Of his sources, he said that his "most direct information involves three informants, two of whom are scientists of distinction, and the third a business man of high standing.

One of the scientists, a Dr. Weisberg, a physics professor from a California university, saw the disc himself and took part in the examination of it. He says the disc was shaped like a turtle's back, with a cabin space some fifteen feet in diameter. The bodies of six occupants were seared . . . and the interior of the disc had been badly damaged by intense heat. One porthole had been shattered. . . .

An autopsy on one body showed that it resembled a normal human body except in size. One body was seated at what appeared to be a control desk, there were a few 'gadgets' in front of him, and on the walls or panels were characters in writing, in a language unknown to any of the investigators. They said it was unlike anything known to them, and was definitely not Russian. There was no propeller and no motor and they could not understand how it was driven or controlled. It was considered possible that the disc was wrecked by heat of friction with the atmosphere. . . ."

Dr. Weisberg's other testimony is especially interesting in that he suggests how the UFO got to its destination at Edwards Air Force Base. According to his recollection, it was taken by truck to Magdalena, in Guadalupe County, where it was put on a special car of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, which had been brought down from Vaughn. It was "kept under wraps" passing through Belen, Grants, and Gallup in New Mexico, Flagstaff, Arizona, to Needles and Cadiz in California and finally to Muroc, where Camp Edwards is located.

While we cannot be certain which material went to Fort Worth and which to Muroc, apparently shipments in both directions took place: the disc and its occupants to Muroc and the unusual wreckage to Fort Worth, and then on to Wright Field in Ohio. There are even persistent rumors that, sometime in the mid-1950s, presumably after an alleged viewing by President Eisenhower of the material and bodies at Edwards, they were reunited under one roof inside a structure referred to only as "Building 18-A, Area B" at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base. (Requests to Wright-Patterson for information about the contents of Building 18-A are usually answered by the reply that there is no Building 18-A.) Later, again according to rumor, the Air Force in early 1978 reacted to increasing

The pilot soon returned and the sergeant followed him out of the area. Just before they parted, the pilot reminded him to say nothing about what he had seen or where he had been, and that if he did, he (the pilot) would deny it all.

"Do you think that was a flying saucer built and operated by U.S. Air Force personnel?" asked Crabb.

"I do," replied the sergeant. "In fact, I became acquainted with civilian guards there at Edwards who claimed to have seen these disc-shaped craft operating from specially camouflaged hangars at night."

Reilly Crabb's informant transferred to Vietnam shortly after their conversation where, Crabb believes, he met his death in action.

In seeming confirmation of the likelihood that at least some governmental research has been carried out on a saucer-like disc-shaped craft is a persistent rumor that such an object was indeed test-flown over Nellis AFB in Nevada during 1965, stored for a period of time, and then test-flown again, presumably with some additional modifications, in 1974. Some informants claim to have seen such a plane, referred to as the "Flying Flapjack," in a commercial newsreel. When one such witness wrote the TV program You Asked For It and requested a rerun of the newsreel on TV, he was informed that the newsreel had been acquired by the government and was henceforth "Top Secret." The Flying Flapjack has been a dead project (officially) since the 1940s, and, presumably, the only aircraft of this type ever built never left Connecticut.

When asked by letter about such a rumor, the Air Force invariably refers the inquirer to the nonclassified and highly visible work done by the Air Force between 1954 and 1959 in contract with the A. V. Roe Ltd. aeronautics firm of Toronto. Some $10 million was spent to develop the so-called AV-9 AVRO car disc-shaped aircraft—a monumental flop which never got more than a few feet off the ground and wobbled like a Yo-Yo when it finally was test-flown in December 1959. This technological disaster, according to the Air Force, is as far as anyone has ever progressed in trying to force the saucer shape to conform to the principles of aerodynamics. The case would seem to be closed.

Or is it? For recently some of those connected with the AVRO project have suggested otherwise—have suggested that the ill-fated AVRO car was really nothing more than a monumental blind designed to divert public attention from the real research going on with actual "captured" hardware or attempts at duplicating it. Lieutenant Colonel George Edwards, USAF (Ret.) of New York, a scientist who lays claim to actually having been involved in the AVRO VZ-9 man-made saucer project, had gone on record (Ideal's UFO Magazine, No. 4, Fall, 1978) as saying that he and others involved with the project knew from the beginning that it would never succeed and that the VZ-9 would never fly. "Although we weren't cut in on it," he is quoted as saying, "we know that the AF was secretly test-flying a real alien spacecraft. The VZ-9 was to be a 'cover,' so the Pentagon would have an explanation whenever people reported seeing a saucer in flight." If the above were true (and the VZ-9 was certainly itself a fact) this could be classified as one more example of "gray" propaganda as described on page 50.

The mystery of the crashed disc or UFO near Roswell at the very beginning of the "UFO age" will probably be revealed only when governmental authorities release the mountains of UFO information they have been collecting through the years. The quest for information by interested civilians is complicated not only because pertinent agencies have been unwilling to release information but also because UFO reports are not concentrated in any one agency. They are variously held by the CIA, the FBI, NASA, the Air Force, the Navy, the National Security Agency, and the National Archives, among others, and, as could be expected, reports have been lost or misfiled while on loan to another agency.

UFO groups have been agitating and lobbying to this effect since the 1960s but now, because of the passage of the

UFOS...EXPLORING THE 'E.T.' PHENOMENON

By William L. Moore

One of the first conclusions an impartial observer must make about the subject of UFOs is that rumors and circumstance play far too great a role in what ought to be a more exacting quest for knowledge. It is just such an observation which once led Dr. Carl Sagan to comment dryly that UFOs "are more a matter for religion and superstition than they are for science." While this dismissal is perhaps unscientific in its own right, the point is well taken. Attend any gathering of "UFO people" you want, and simply listen. Rumors abound.

Perhaps worse, however, is that some of these rumors manage to circulate for years (even decades) without anyone making a reasonable effort to get to the bottom of them.

One of the most persistent of these is a story that President Eisenhower visited Edwards Air Force Base in early 1954, and either viewed the bodies of dead aliens and the wreckage of their craft, or met with live aliens on some sort of diplomatic mission to earth. The story takes many forms, with the common thread being that Ike mysteriously disappeared one evening while on a vacation to Palm Springs, and that he was spirited to Edwards to view (or meet) aliens. It is said that he returned by dawn and shortly thereafter ordered absolute secrecy about anything having to do with UFOs.

No doubt one of the reasons that this particular rumor has continued to circulate for such a long time is that there are a number of verifiable facts associated with it--some of them rather curious. For example, President Eisenhower did indeed make a trip to Palm Springs between February 17th and 24th, 1954, and on the evening of Saturday, February 20th, he did disappear! When members of the press learned that the president was not where he should be, rumors ran rampant that he had either died or was seriously ill. The story even managed to get onto a press wire before being killed moments later. To quell the fuss, White House Press Secretary James Haggerty called an urgent late evening press conference to announce "solemnly" that the president had been enjoying fried chicken earlier that evening, had knocked a cap off a tooth, and had been taken to a local dentist for treatment. When Ike turned up as scheduled the next morning for an early church service, the matter seemed ended.

Although the Palm Springs trip was billed as a "vacation for the president", the trip appears to have come up rather suddenly. In addition, it is a matter of record that Ike had returned from a quail shooting vacation in Georgia less than a week before leaving for Palm Springs.

While the incidence of a local dentist being called upon to treat a president of the United States is unusual enough that it should constitute a rather memorable event for those involved, the dentist's widow, in a June, 1979 interview, was curiously unable to recall any specifics relating to her husband's alleged involvement in the affair--not even the time of day it had occurred. Yet her memory appeared flawless when asked to relate details of her and her husband's attendance (by presidential invitation) at a steak fry the following evening, where her husband was introduced as "the dentist who had treated the president". This would appear to suggest a cover story, the details of which would have easily been repeated at the time, but quite naturally forgotten 25 years later.

Research at the Eisenhower Library has uncovered two other facts inconsistent with the dentist story. The first is that while the library maintains an extensive index of records relating to the president's health, there is no record of any dental work having been performed at all during February, 1954. A file on "Dentists" contains nothing concerning any such incident either.

Secondly, there is a large file containing copies of all sorts of acknowledgments which were sent by the White House to people who had something to do with the Palm Springs trip. There are letters, for example, to people who sent flowers, people who met the airplane, people who had offered to play golf, etc. There is even a thank you letter to the minister who presided over the Sunday service Ike attended. Yet there is no record of any acknowledgment having been sent to "the dentist who treated the president." If the matter were as routine as Haggerty attempts to make it appear, then the absence of these records seems strangely inconsistent.

The rumor of the president's alleged visit to Edwards is not a new one. UFO contactee fringe writers began making unsupported claims about it less than two months after Ike's trip. So did a bizarre fellow from the Hollywood hills named Gerald Light, who, in an April 16, 1954 letter to the head of a Southern California metaphysical organization, actually claimed to have been at Edwards where he saw Ike, the saucers and the aliens. Light's letter has been controversial for years and copies of it have turned up in all sorts of places, including the National Enquirer. Investigation into Mr. Light's background, however, turned up the fact that he was an elderly mystic who believed that psychic "out-of-body-experiences" were a logical extension of the reality of life and should be treated as such. In the final analysis, Light's alleged visit to Edwards was just such an experience.

And so the story ends. Clearly something unusual occurred involving the president on the evening of February 20, 1954. Whether it was a trip to the dentist, a trip to see flying saucers, or something altogether different and unrelated, no one can say. It's the stuff rumors are made of.

From Aliens Among Us, by Ruth Montgomery; New York, 1985; pb. (pp. 215-16)

"A number of people have written about an alleged encounter that President Dwight D. Eisenhower had with a small fleet of UFOs and their alien occupants at Edwards Air Force Base in California in 1954. Although no official report has ever been released, the Earl of Clancarty, a member of the British Parliament and author of several books on UFOs, recently revived the sensational story in the National Enquirer by declaring that he was personally told of the secret meeting by a former U.S. test pilot, who said that he was one of only six persons with Eisenhower at the time. Lord Clancarty, who heads a House of Lords group that is demanding British government declassification of UFO data, said that the test pilot told him 'Five different alien craft landed at the base. Three were saucer-shaped and two were cigar-shaped...the aliens looked something like humans, but not exactly.'

"According to this account, President Eisenhower was vacationing in nearby Palm Springs at the time, and was apparently summoned to the air force base by military officials. There, as he watched, the humanoids disembarked from their craft, talked to Ike in English, and displayed their spacecraft technology for him. The pilot said that they also demonstrated their ability to make themselves invisible and then to reappear, but that the president told them he did not think our world was ready to know of their presence, because it could cause 'panic.' The pilot claimed that they were all sworn to secrecy, but that he was now speaking out because all of the other witnesses to the encounter are dead.

"In the mid-1950s a sergeant told Los Angeles UFO expert Gabe Green about that alleged landing at Edwards Air Force Base, saying, 'I was at gunnery practice, under the command of a general. We were shooting live ammo at targets when all of a sudden five UFOs flew right over us. The general ordered all batteries to open fire on the craft. We did, but our shells had no effect whatsoever. We all stopped firing and watched the UFOs land at one of the large hangars.'"

ABOUT EDWARDS - HISTORY

During Hollywood's Golden Era, the themes of auto racing and flight testing – with some science fiction and western drama thrown in for good measure – were the focus of movies shot at what is now Edwards Air Force Base.

Actors including James Stewart, John Wayne, Janet Leigh and William Holden filmed on location on the dry lakebeds, both before and after these areas became part of the military facility.

Motor operas and horse operas

"Speed" (1936), described in the New York Times as a "minor motor opera," stars James Stewart as a young test driver perfecting a carburetor that will revolutionize car engines. Stewart is out to break the world's speed record as he races his torpedo-shaped car across the dry lake, where the real-life drama of Edwards flight test mission is enacted today.

An obvious choice for westerns, the dry lake served as a dramatic backdrop for cowboys, Indians, pioneers and horses.

Roy Rogers filmed two movies at Muroc, including "Son of Paleface" (1952). The film had a cast filled with familiar names, including Iron Eyes Cody, Bing Crosby, Cecil B. DeMille, Bob Hope and Jane Russell.

A film of epic proportions

A resident of Muroc, a town founded by homesteaders on the shores of the dry lake, remembers the filming of a different sort of western. It was an epic – probably the Academy Award-winning "Cimarron" (1931) starring Richard Dix and Irene Dunne. The premise of the movie centered around the 1889 Oklahoma land rush.

"They had all kinds of covered wagons," recalls Grace Adair Logan, the Muroc resident who was a young girl at the time. "The artillery and the calvary were all dressed in the Civil War-type costumes...There were literally hundreds of actors and extras...it was really a spectacle to see."

"Cimarron" was the first western to feature synchronous sound.

A celluloid spectacle of another kind featured an experimental aircraft being tested at Edwards, as well as the otherworldliness of the stark desert landscape.

Martians invade Edwards

George Pal's 1953 sci-fi classic "War of the Worlds" spotlighted the Air Force's most exotic, futuristic-looking bomber of the time – the YB-49.

In a brief sequence, actor Philip Tong, who portrays the flying wing's pilot, occupied one of the big bomber's cockpits. In addition, much of the aerial footage in the film – used during the sequences in which the military is nuking the Martian invaders – was taken over Edwards Air Force Base.

In real life, Air Force test pilot Capt. Chuck Yeager broke the sound barrier – ushering in a whole new topic for Hollywood to capitalize on: military aviation thrillers.

Films such as "Toward the Unknown" (1956), "Jet Pilot" (1957) and "X-15 (1961) were packed with edge-of-your-seat action and dangerous romantic liaisons long before Tom Cruise ever took to the skies in "Top Gun."

Albert Boyd

Maj. Gen. Albert Boyd has been called the "father of modern Air Force flight testing." During his years as chief of the Flight Test Division at Wright-Patterson AFB in Ohio, and first commander of the Flight Test Center at Edwards, Gen. Boyd achieved a remarkable career as a test pilot and leader. At retirement he had flown an astounding 23,000 hours in 325 different kinds of airplanes, a record believed to be unequaled by any other pilot in the world.

Col. Albert Boyd is shown beside his P-80R Shooting Star jet fighter specially modified for racing. On June 10, 1947, he piloted the plane, nicknamed "Racey," to a new world speed record of 623.85 mph. This was the first U.S. jet world speed record, and the first time that the nation had held the world speed record in 24 years. Nine other world speed records were subsequently broken at Edwards AFB.

Douglas test pilot Bill Bridgeman, Lt. Col. Marion Carl, USMC, and the NACA's Scott Crossfield each set records in the swept-wing research plane. Each, at one time, has held the title of "The Fastest Man Alive."

Glen Edwards

Capt. Glen W. Edwards was a promising test pilot whose life was cut short in the crash of a Northrop YB-49 Flying Wing jet bomber on June 5, 1948. He was a decorated combat pilot and already experienced in the exacting flying required for flight testing when he helped to set a transcontinental speed record in the experimental XB-42 pusher bomber in December 1945. Muroc Air Force Base was renamed Edwards Air Force Base in his honor on Dec. 8, 1949.

Joe Engle

Maj. Gen. Joe H. Engle, ANG (Ret), is the only person ever to fly two different winged vehicles in space. In the mid-60s, he was one of only eight pilots to win astronaut's wings while flying the X-15, as he exceeded 50 miles altitude on three occasions and reached a peak of 280,600 feet. During his 16 flights in the rocket research airplane, he also attained a top speed of Mach 5.71 (3,886 mph). In 1977, he commanded one of two crews that conducted approach and landing tests with the unpowered Space Shuttle, the Enterprise. Then, in November 1981, he commanded the second orbital flight of the Space Shuttle Columbia and, during this flight, became the first pilot to manually fly an aerospace vehicle during reentry from Mach 25 to landing. He completed his final space flight in early September 1985 as commander of the Shuttle Discovery during mission STS-51-L.

The Bell X-2 was an improved, swept-wing successor to the famed X-1 rocket research aircraft. The new plane was designed to measure stability and control problems at high supersonic speeds and to study high-speed heating effects or the so-called thermal barrier. Lt. Col. "Pete" Everest, shown here on Rogers Dry Lake, flew the aircraft on its first powered flight and later set a new speed record of Mach 2.87 (1,900 mph) in July 1956.

ABOUT EDWARDS - HISTORY

Edwards-HOLLYWOOD : Celebrity Visits connection

Over the years, the Air Force Flight Test Center has attracted a wide range of celebrities intrigued with the Edwards flight test mission – as well as a number of entertainers who were just doing their jobs.

During World War II, especially, Hollywood stars and starlets paid frequent visits to what was then known as Muroc Army Air Field, in an effort to keep up the GI morale.

Exciting announcements would be posted in the base newspaper at the time: "Ten acts of personalities from radio, stage and screen will be presented at the Post Theater Sunday" and "Jack Benny, for years the nation's number one comedian of the airwaves, will broadcast from Muroc's Post Theater tomorrow afternoon..."

Boosting morale was important with a war going on, and the entertainers of the day took the job seriously.

Jimmy Durante at Edwards

All-round entertainer Jimmy Durante was described in the Feb. 3, 1945, Muroc Mirage as "a great (guy), hitting spots like Muroc twice each week to give shows, while still filling his job with Gary Moore on the Camel Caravan, and getting ready to do a movie – and then go overseas."

Durante, who performed at Muroc with Edward G. Robinson for two shows on Jan. 31, 1945, was interviewed by the base newspaper reporter. Durante spoke very highly of the troops: "Ah, dese guys are a great bunch, a great bunch. Ya take tonight, frinstance; dese guys got intelligence."

In reference to the many letters he received from GIs stationed overseas, he said, "Ah, it makes me feel terrific. Ya know, General Eisenhower sent us a wire requestin' us to come over." According to the report, Durante smiled with "pride and wonder" as he said this.

About this time, one Muroc resident had especially close ties with Hollywood: Pancho Barnes.

Barnes, a former barnstormer who had flown in Howard Hughes' production "Hell's Angels," (some of which may have been filmed at Muroc) had built a ranch in the desert near the dry lake and advertised it to celebrities as a resort. She also flew in "The Dawn Patrol" and "The Flying Fool."

Near the end of the war, there was one particularly famous actress who stayed for an extended visit at Muroc Army Air Field.

Jacqueline Wells (a.k.a. Julie Bishop), became the wife of Col. Clarence Shoop in July 1944. At 30 years old and a full colonel, Shoop arrived at Muroc in May 1945 to serve as Base Commander.

Wells is probably best known as the object of Bela Lugosi's obsession in the 1934 film, "The Black Cat." She starred in many other movies, as well, including "Tarzan the Fearless" (1933), "Sands of Iwo Jima" (1949) and more than 70 others. After a career of more than 30 years, Wells made her last film in 1957.

Shoop's Hollywood connections began before he married Wells: During World War II, on furlough in the states awaiting assignment, Shoop accepted the job of technical adviser to Paramount Studios during the filming of "You Came Along." He went on to become a general, eventually being put in charge of the California National Guard.

Col. Shoop, who returned to the movie industry after his Air Force duty, had a brother also stationed at Muroc. Maj. Richard Shoop.

During Maj. Shoop's time at Muroc, he befriended actress Gloria DeHaven, whose career in Hollywood has spanned 40 years. Her films included "The Yellow Cab Man" (1950), "Two Tickets To Broadway" (1951) and "So This Is Paris" (1954). She's also done an episode or two of television's "Murder, She Wrote." Her latest film is "Out to Sea" (1997) with Jack Lemmon.

Soon after the war, Capt. Chuck Yeager broke the sound barrier in the X-1 – and what was now known as Muroc Air Force Base became famous throughout the world for its flight test activity, as well as the test pilot machismo that went with it.

One of those pilots, Capt. Glen Edwards, had his head turned by Hollywood starlet Joan Leslie. A frequent companion of Edwards, Leslie starred in a variety of movies of the period, including "Born to be Bad," "Sergeant York" and "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

Capt. Glen Edwards and Joan Leslie

In the February 1946 issue of Movieland, it is reported that "Joan's still never too tied-up to entertain service men in military camps, in hospitals, and in her own home. That Burbank house is a week-end mecca for visiting GI's, and she entertains simply and graciously with badminton bouts, ping-pong, home-made cookies and pleasant chatter. Her popularity with men in uniform is, they claim, because she's 'so much like the girl next door.'"

It was her "girl next door" quality that attracted Edwards to the actress, according to his description of her in Nov. 24, 1945 entry of his diary: "A swell kid – one you'd like to come home to – unaffected, real – didn't have time to get her phone number – AH ME!"

Despite Edwards' initial inability to snag Leslie's phone number, the romance flourished, and was followed closely by the Hollywood gossip columnists. On Jan 3, 1946, Edwards wrote, "Louella Parsons reported in her column today that we are getting 'more serious.' My, oh my, this long distance romancing with neither party communicating is quite the thing."

The following February, he wrote that he had sent Leslie a Valentine, "the first Valentine I bought in years."

Tragically, Edwards died on June 5, 1948, after the YB-49 "Flying Wing" he was testing crashed onto the desert floor, killing the pilot and his four crew mates. A year and a half later, the Air Force renamed Muroc in his honor, to Edwards Air Force Base.

A myriad of other celebrities have dropped by Edwards for a variety of events. When the NCO (non-commissioned officer's) club was built in 1944, actress Mitzi Gaynor was present, with a myriad of other stars, to cut the ribbon.

On March 4, 1956, while actors William Holden and Lloyd Nolan were on location for the Paramount's military aviation feature, "Toward the Unknown," Art Linkletter brought a group of Hollywood radio television personalities to Edwards to interview the movie crew.

Other visitors have included Red Skelton, who dropped by long enough for a photo near the lakebed, as well as, in separate visits, actors Danny Kaye ("The Secret Life of Walter Mitty") and Linda Darnell ("No Way Out") who got their photographs taken in the cockpits of jets. In more recent times, muscle man-turned-actor Arnold Schwarzenegger dropped by.

The center has been the host of numerous celebrities eager to see the space shuttle landings during the 1980s and '90s. Among these were John Denver and "Star Trek" alumni Leonard Nimoy and William Shatner.

But, by far, the biggest star who ever visited Edwards was a famous actor who used to host a show about the Mojave Desert.

Once the host of "Death Valley Days," President Ronald Reagan paid a visit on July 4, 1982, to witness, along with thousands of other Americans, the landing of the Space Shuttle Columbia.

GOSSIP COLUMN

The rumor persists that several saucers from Space landed at Mather Air Base, California, last spring, and that Eisenhower had a conference with one of saucer occupants. Ike was told: "It is the policy of the other planets not to interfere with the internal affairs of any planet, except when their actions are liable to disturb the other members of the Solar System. Then we (the Space Visitors) are permitted to step in and stop it. We are now worried about your dangerous playthings, because we do not know what you are doing, and if you start an atomic war, we will stop it quickly.".....John Otto, flying saucer lecturer from Chicago, recently began a series of eastern lectures. The first, on September 2nd, was in Pythian Hall, New York, and was well received by an audience of about 300.....Several bits of information, too "hot" even for publication in NEXUS, have been received by us during the past few weeks. As a result, we see more clearly than ever just how gullible and easily misled some saucer researchers can be.....A new saucer magazine from England: URANUS, published bi-monthly by Markham House Press Ltd., 31 Kings Road, London S.W.3.....The Communist Party has planted an agent in every civilian saucer club in the United States. It seems that the Communists share the general public's anxiety to solve the flying saucer mystery.....A whole flock of new saucer books will come off the presses next spring.Civilian Saucer Intelligence is trying to reorganize for the fall season. They will be without the service of their former president, Eliot Rockmore, who may give up his saucer work completely in the near future.....A recent saucer convention at Valley Center, California, was conducted by George Adamski and Desmond Leslie, co-authors of "Flying Saucers Have Landed". The convention was quite a success, in spite of the fact that the scientists at world-famous Mount Palomar Observatory, a few miles away, refused to participate. According to a current rumor, the Mount Palomar scientists could have added quite a bit of drama to the gathering if they had chosen to, by showing some

Mr. Meade Layne
San Diego, California

My dear Friend: I have just returned from Muroc. The report is true-- devastatingly true!

I made the journey in company with Franklin Allen of the Hearst papers and Edwin Nourse of Brookings Institute (Truman's erstwhile financial adviser) and Bishop MacIntyre of L.A. (confidential names, for the present, please.)

When we were allowed to enter the restricted section, (after about six hours in which we were checked on every possible item, event, incident and aspect of our personal and public lives) I had the distinct feeling that the world had come to an end with fantastic realism. For I have never seen so many human beings in a state of complete collapse and confusion as they realized that their own world had indeed ended with such finality as to beggar description. The reality of "otherplane" aerofoms is now and forever removed from the realms of speculation and made a rather painful part of the consciousness of every responsible scientific and political group. ★

During my two days visit I saw five separate and distinct types of aircraft being studied and handled by our airforce officials---with the assistance and permission of The Etherians! I have no words to express my reactions.

It has finally happened. It is now a matter of history.

President Eisenhower, as you may already know, was spirited over to Muroc one night during his visit to Palm Springs recently. And it is my conviction that he will ignore the terrific conflict between the various "authorities" and go directly to the people via radio and television---if the impasse continues much longer. From what I could gather, an official statement to the country is being prepared for delivery about the middle of May.

I will leave it to your own excellent powers of deduction to construct a fitting picture of the mental and emotional pandemonium that is now shattering the consciousness of hundreds of our scientific "authorities" and all the pundits of the various specialized knowledges that make up our current physics. In some instances I could not stifle a wave of pity that arose in my own being as I watched the pathetic bewilderment of rather brilliant brains struggling to make some sort of rational explanation which would enable them to retain their familiar theories and concepts. And I thanked my own destiny for having long ago pushed me into the metaphysical woods and compelled me to find my way out. To watch strong minds cringe before totally irreconcilable aspects of "science" is not a pleasant thing. I had forgotten how commonplace such things as the dematerialization of "solid" objects had become to my own mind. The coming and going of an etheric, or spirit, body has been so familiar to me these many years I had just forgotten that such a manifestation could snap the mental balance of a man not so conditioned. I shall never forget those forty-eight hours at Muroc!

THE JOURNAL OF BORDERLAND RESEARCH

BSRF No. 1 Published by Borderland Sciences Research Foundation, Inc., PO Box 548, Vista, California 92083, U.S.A.

Edited by the Director, Riley Hansard Crabb, Doctor of Metaphysics in the Society of St. Luke the Physician.

The Journal is published six issues a year with the assistance of the Associates, at the Director's home, 1103 Bobolink Drive, Vista. It is printed, 36 pages an issue. The Foundation was incorporated under California law, May 21, 1951, #254263, and has been in continuous existence since then. Address all correspondence to the PO Box. The Journal is included in the Foundation membership of $6.50 a year. Single copies and back issues of the Journal are now $1.25 each. If you don't care to join you may receive the Journal by donating $6.50 a year or more to the Foundation. The Director's wife, Ms. Judith Crabb, is office manager and Secretary-Treasurer.

PURPOSES OF BSRF: This is non-profit organization of people who take an active interest in unusual happenings along the borderland between the visible and invisible worlds. In the words of the late Meade Layne, founder and director of BSRA from 1946 to 1959: "BSRA publications are scientific in approach but employ few technical expressions. They deal with significant phenomena which orthodox science cannot or will not investigate. For example: The Fortean falls of objects from the sky, Teleportation, Radiesthesia, PK effects, Underground Races, Mysterious Disappearances, Occult and Psychic Phenomena, Photography of the Invisible, Nature of the Ethers and the problem of the Aeroforms (Flying Saucers). In the year 1946 BSRA obtained an interpretation of the phenomena which since has come to be known as the Etheric or 4-D interpretation, and which has not been radically altered since that time. This continues to be the only explanation which makes good science, sound metaphysics and common sense."

The chief present concern of the Foundation is to make this kind of unusual information available as a public service at reasonable cost. Headquarters acts as a receiving, coordinating and distributing center. An important part of the Director's work is to give recognition, understanding and encouragement to people who are having unusual experiences of the borderland type and/or are conducting research in any of the above fields. For consultation on borderland problems, or for Spiritual healing through prayer, write or phone 714-724-2043 for help or for an appointment. Donations and bequests toward Foundation research programs and expenses are welcome.

The 24-page list of BSRF publications is available from Headquarters for 50¢ in coin or stamps. This includes mimeo brochures on borderland subjects, tape recordings of Mr. Crabb's lectures and of members of the Inner Circle, talking through trance-medium Mark Probert. BSRF No. 2-P

FLYING SAUCERS AT EDWARDS AFB, 1954

The early 1950s were exciting years for the UFO-awakened in California! George Adamski was having his sightings and contacts at Palomar and out in the desert. Orfeo Angelucci was using Glendale for a take-off for space trips to one of the Asteroids. Paul Vest had his interview with a Venusian in Santa Monica. Visitors to Giant Rock were being taken up into hovering space ships via a magnetic-etheric tube, through George Van Tassel's mediumship, and Meade Layne was being overwhelmed with sighting and contact data in San Diego.

Then there was the Saucer flap at Edwards Air Force Base in the Muroc Dry Lake area of the High Desert. This was in the spring of 1954 and apparently lasted for months. Frank Edwards, radio news caster in the Midwest, had word of a January landing of UFOs "at some military base in California".

President Eisenhower was induced -- or inspired? -- to take a vacation at Palm Springs, scarcely a hundred miles by helicopter from Edwards AFB. So he could confirm for himself the reality of Visitors from outer space by direct observation? It seems more than likely. As far as I know the only news media hint that the President might have gotten away undetected for a look-see at the spaceships at the Air Base at Muroc Dry Lake was in "Time" magazine for March 1, 1954. He disappeared for four hours on Saturday night -- perhaps Feb. 27th but more likely Feb. 20th -- from his vacation headquarters in Palm Springs. The 75 domestic and foreign news media reps on hand to cover the President's Southern California visit nearly went crazy trying to learn Ike's whereabouts. "Time" wrote that the Associated Press man even put on the wire the President had been assassinated, and retracted it moments later! When he was safely back in his quarters they were given the limp excuse that he had broken a cap off a tooth chewing on a chicken bone at supper and had slipped away to a dentist to have it fixed.

Ike was offered the opportunity to make a name for himself, unparalleled in history, in extending the hand of friendship to Visitors from outer space, the first leader of a great nation in historical times to do so. But he remained steadfastly loyal to the military-industrial-religious oligarchy that put him and kept him in office for eight years. To my knowledge he never broke security on the UFO landing at Edwards AFB, while in office or in the years of retirement.

Gerald "Dr. Kappa" Light did break security by writing to BSRA director Meade Layne immediately after his return to Los Angeles from Edwards in mid-April. How Meade handled this shocking news item is revealed in the following pages. Others who made the privileged visit to Edwards in the spring of 1954 told the truth to close friends, no doubt, and some even made a few guarded remarks in public. There is no use trying to get anything out of the three Angelenos who accompanied Light to Edwards. Other Saucer researchers have tried. Letters are not even acknowledged.

In our printed lecture "Flying Saucers Uncensored" we reviewed the Edwards 1954 landing rather extensively, including the positive and suggestive observations of certain astronomers who might have been invited to the show at Edwards. There was Dr. Robert S. Richardson, astronomer at Palomar and Mt. Wilson at the time. In "This Week" magazine for June 20th he had an article on the "Mysteries of Mars", in which he strongly suggested the existence of intelligent life on the Red Planet. At that time, did he know for sure that UFOs come from that planet?

The supposition becomes even firmer when we are reminded of the cryptic remarks of Air Force General Nathan Twining in May 1954: "The best brains in the Air Force are now working on the mystery of the UFO. . . which continue to baffle them. If they come from Mars and are that far ahead of us, we have nothing to fear."

Why Mars? Unless both Richardson and Twining knew for a fact that the Edwards-landed UFOs were from that planet.

Another astronomer who just happened to be in California at that time was Frank Halstead, of the University of Minnesota. Later in 1954 he stated publicly: "Aircraft of some sort have visited the earth from outer space. The best scientific minds in the world agree that some planet out there is sending these things to look us over."

Prof. Norman Berrill, of Canada's McGill University, had an article in the June 1954 issue of "McClean's Magazine" on the likelihood of there being advanced civilizations who had mastered space travel -- as well as being far, far beyond us in other matters. Was he also an Air Force guest at Edwards earlier that year?

English Flying Saucer researcher Desmond Leslie was in the U.S. on a visit in the summer of 1954. Having read the BSRA material on the Edwards landing he made a few discreet inquiries himself while in Southern California. He later told George Hunt Williamson of his findings, reported in "Saucer Symposium" in "Valor" magazine for Oct. 9, 1954: "While in California Desmond Leslie did a little Saucer research himself. He discovered that the rumored saucer at Muroc was actually there, and was kept under guard in Hangar 27. He spoke to one AF man who had himself seen the craft, and his investigation showed that on a certain day, a 100-foot object landed on the runway at Muroc. Suddenly men coming back from leave found they were not allowed to go back on the base and were given orders to 'get lost'. Others had bespeaks some form of electro-magnetic propulsion; for all details of the craft were blotted out in the brilliant light. The same was true of Coniston UFO picture taken by young Stephen Darbishire three days earlier. Allingham says the landed IFO at left was about 50 feet in diameter and 20 feet high. The dome appeared to revolve while the craft was in flight.

The metal hull was warm to the touch. The presence of a powerful electro-magnetic -- and perhaps anti-gravity field as well -- determinedly waved around the craft became obvious when the Martian the Englishman back and away before takeoff. It rose slowly about 50 feet, tilted slightly and left at tremendous speed.

It isn't likely that U.S. Air Force officers and technicians at Edwards AFB in California in 1954 were any more ready to understand Flying Saucer lift and propulsion systems than was Cedric Allingham, or the members of Borderland Sciences Research Associates! So the BSRA material in the following pages is concerned more with the philosophical and political aspects of the Flying Saucer phenomenon. We've included Dr. Light's letter to Meade. There is Meade Layne's Personal Bulletin No. 4 -- a copy of which I received in Honolulu in April 1954, and there is the special Mark Probert seance of April 17, 1954, in which Meade and others discuss the Edwards-Muroc landing and its implications with Ramon Natalli and the Yada di Shi'ite (Yah-dah dee Shee-ee-tay). We have included also a copy of Special Report 10-C-53.

This latter is of interest because it was a seance set up especially for four engineers from the aero-space industry in San Diego. From the Yada di Shi'ite they hoped to get significant information from the "other side" on the properties of gravity fields and related space-time problems. If nothing else, the reading of 10-C-53 demonstrates the great difficulties we have in adjusting our thinking to the demands of the Space Age, and to communicating with Beings who are free from the 3-D continuum in which we live. This is a Cosmic Barrier which all must cross eventually.

their personal belongings brought to the them at the gate. Men on the base that day were not allowed to leave. Leslie says he believes the Saucer has not left Muroc. President Eisenhower had a look-see at the craft during his Palm Springs vacation."

LANDING AT LOSSIEMOUTH

While Air Force personnel and their privileged guests were gawking at landed UFOs and the pilots in Southern California -- under tight security, the Martians arranged another landing on the other side of the world in more public surroundings. It was the beach at Lossiemouth, Scotland, on Feb. 18, 1954! Writer-ornithologist-astronomer Cedric Allingham was the fortunate mortal to be in the right place at the right time, and with the right mental and emotional equipment. True, his out-of-focus pictures of the landed spacecraft and the pilot with whom he tried to communicate for half an hour leave much to be desired; but they are far, far better than anything offered to the public by the U.S. Air Force!

The full story is in Allingham's book, "Flying Saucers From Mars", British Book Centre, New York, 1955.

Cedric saw the glowing object in the sky above the beach area about noon. Through binoculars he could see port-holes and other details of its structure, and got pictures of it. It came down to land near him on the beach about four hours later. He had one witness to the landing and contact. The Martian could not speak English, but with his sketch pad and pencil, drawing in the sun and orbits of the planets, Allingham found to his surprise that the Visitor came, not from Venus as he suspected, but from Mars.

Allingham could only guess at the propulsion system of the Martian craft. A slight humming noise coming from it as it swept in from over the ocean made him think of motors, but the corona discharge around the IFO (Identified Flying Object) in his first picture

Allingham's offhand snapshot of the Martian IFO pilot after the brief interview and while the man was headed back toward his craft -- about six feet tall, normal appearing except for noseplugs with little breathing tubes, and wearing a one-piece flight coverall.

Irene and Mark Probert

The Saucer landing at Edwards was a challenge to the Air Force and news releases in 1955 indicated the challenge was taken up with the funding of an anti-gravity research project at Martin-Baltimore. It was simply called the Advanced Design section. It was headed by a brilliant young physicist named George Trimble. Other physicists were recruited from England and on the Continent.

It seems more than likely that the Martin anti-gravity project was successful in developing and building flyable hardware, utilizing anti-gravity and electro-magnetic principles. 10 years later, by 1965, Saucer researchers were receiving reports of UFO sightings in which the craft had identification markings with Arabic numbers and English letters on the sides. These reports came from the south Mid-west and in 1972, during the Kansas UFO flap of August, glowing space ships hovered over towns for hours at a time. It isn't likely that alien craft could remain in 3-D configuration that long without serious challenge by Air Force helicopters and jets. By now, 1973, the U.S. Air Force must have an electro-magnetic and radar grid system which covers the entire United States like a blanket! I know from personal experience that when my little UFO magnetic detector here in Vista sounds a warning, a military-appearing helicopter can be circling over the house within minutes!

It's a good bet that the home of every UFO researcher and every known Contactee is pinpointed on detailed area maps of this nation. If a magnetic vortex or space warp triggers the surveillance system, government agents know it immediately and are on their way.

RAMON NATALLI, 16th Century Italian astronomer, photocopy of oil portrait by Mark Probert, as is the picture of the YADA DI SHI'ITE below. The Yada now wears a Chinese body for purposes of communication with form-conscious beings like ourselves. In his normal state his Body of Light may be only a point of Light in that vast sea of Cosmic consciousness whose center is everywhere and whose circumference is nowhere.

BSRA No. 2-F: FLYING SAUCERS ON THE MOON - Mr. Crabb starts off with the premise the moon is an inhabited Flying Saucer base. This is backed up with an analysis of 200 years of astronomical observations of lights and objects on the moon. Illustrations include drawings of certain moon craters which suggest the layout of inhabited communities, and the movement of landed spaceships. The race to the moon will do what the Flying Saucers didn't do, expand the consciousness of the human race. We are in the midst of this revolution now and Mr. Crabb gives some hints as to who will be most hurt and who most helped by this radical change in understanding. The last portion of the talk is given over to an explanation of the Etheric Worlds, and of the occult or hidden side of the moon and its control over the sex life of man. The Archangel of the Moon, Gabriel, is also God of Dreams. Here is a hint as to why the Astronauts experience a "break-off" in consciousness at high altitudes. 41 pages, illustrated. $1.25

BSRA No. 2-I: ESP, THE SPACE TRAVEL PROBLEM - And how we'll solve it with occult science! This is Director Crabb's review of the almost insoluble problem of keeping a man alive, sane and well in deep space, as revealed to the press, and given to the San Francisco Interplanetary Club, Sept. 25, 1964. It is insoluble that is, unless the Astronaut becomes practically an Adept in the power of mind-over-matter -- in the honorable tradition of the pagan Kahuna, the Shaman, the Yogin, the Kabbalist. Illustrated, 35 pages. $1.25

BSRA No. 2-J: FLYING SAUCERS UNCENSORED - Director Crabb here gives a detailed explanation of the UFO landings at Edwards Air Force Base, California in 1954, and the Air Force's launching of an anti-gravity research program in 1955 which now promises a break-through in the 1970s -- if it hasn't already happened! There is a large section, illustrated, on occult chemistry and vortexian physics, on which mental control of gravity can be established. This includes a review of Dr. Puharich's famous chapter 11 on PSI Plasma from his "Beyond Telepathy" book. New and old UFO sightings are illustrated and analyzed. Lao Tse of the Inner Circle tells us why UFOs are here and M.K. Jessup tells of his after-death trip to Venus in 1959 and present work for peace. 49pp. . $1.50

BSRA No. 2-K: SPACECRAFT FROM BEYOND THE SUN - Continuing his deep probing of the constant presence of the Visitors, for the 10th Annual Northern California Spacecraft Convention, Berkeley, 1966, Mr. Crabb said the UFOs are here to make an examination for the record, of the last days of this Piscean Age civilization. So are the Visitors here to oversee the birth of a new Aquarian Age civilization! This talk is a review of prophetic material about this critical period, 1966 through 2000 A.D. It includes a review of the Coming of the Masters, from Alice Bailey's "Treatise on Cosmic Fire", a trip to Sirius, the central sun of our super-solar system, and the coming of a new Sun into our Solar System, as described to Dino Kraspedon in 1952. 48 pages. $1.50

BSRA No. 2-N: WHO FLYS THE SAUCERS? - Are they super-beings? Are they robots? are they humanoids? Or all three? Even the sceptical researchers are now taking a closer look at the life-forms manning the elusive UFOs. They are re-reading the contactee stories for clues as to the identity and purpose of both Visitors and Invaders. Mr. Meade Layne
San Diego, California

My dear Friend: I have just returned from Muroc. The report is true--
devastatingly true!

I made the journey in company with Franklin Allen of the Hearst papers and Edwin Nourse of Brookings Institute (Truman's erstwhile financial adviser) and Bishop MacIntyre of L.A. (confidential names, for the present, please.)

When we were allowed to enter the restricted section, (after about six hours in which we were checked on every possible item, event, incident and aspect of our personal and public lives) I had the distinct feeling that the world had come to an end with fantastic realism. For I have never seen so many human beings in a state of complete collapse and confusion as they realized that their own world had indeed ended with such finality as to beggar description. The reality of "otherplane" aerofoms is now and forever removed from the realms of speculation and made a rather painful part of the consciousness of every responsible scientific and political group. ★

During my two days visit I saw five separate and distinct types of aircraft being studied and handled by our airforce officials---with the assistance and permission of The Etherians! I have no words to express my reactions.

It has finally happened. It is now a matter of history.

President Eisenhower, as you may already know, was spirited over to Muroc one night during his visit to Palm Springs recently. And it is my conviction that he will ignore the terrific conflict between the various "authorities" and go directly to the people via radio and television---if the impasse continues much longer. From what I could gather, an official statement to the country is being prepared for delivery about the middle of May.

I will leave it to your own excellent powers of deduction to construct a fitting picture of the mental and emotional pandemonium that is now shattering the consciousness of hundreds of our scientific "authorities" and all the pundits of the various specialized knowledges that make up our current physics. In some instances I could not stifle a wave of pity that arose in my own being as I watched the pathetic bewilderment of rather brilliant brains struggling to make some sort of rational explanation which would enable them to retain their familiar theories and concepts. And I thanked my own destiny for having long ago pushed me into the metaphysical woods and compelled me to find my way out. To watch strong minds cringe before totally irreconcilable aspects of "science" is not a pleasant thing. I had forgotten how commonplace such things as the dematerialization of "solid" objects had become to my own mind. The coming and going of an etheric, or spirit, body has been so familiar to me these many years I had just forgotten that such a manifestation could snap the mental balance of a man not so conditioned. I shall never forget those forty-eight hours at Muroc!

PERSONAL BULLETIN No. 4
April 16, 1954

Dear Associate:

The following news is authentic. It is a personal first-hand report from one of our best-known Associates - whose name will be given within a few days. This Associate has spent two days at the Edwards Air Force Base (So. Calif.).

At this Base five types of aeroforms are under top-level inspection, with the permission and help of the Etherians. The process of mat and demat have been demonstrated. There is consternation, confusion and collapse among scientists, technicians, and governmental authorities. It is believed by our Associate that President Eisenhower will take supreme control of the situation if present impasse continues of bitter conflict among our own department heads. The President visited the Base during his Palm Springs vacation and is believed to be fully informed of all developments. Our Associate visited this Base in company with three well-known persons. He believes that the President will make a public statement about the middle of May.

If a period of public confusion follows on this, it is possible (and probable) that subversive and communistic elements will make as much trouble as they can - as this will be a golden opportunity. We are already being told that "Communism would be better than the destruction of civilization." We urge BSR Associates to cooperate with all legitimate authority, for public welfare.

The situation at the A.F. Base is already known to the major news services, and in any event cannot be kept secret much longer - and stories by hearsay are certain to be distorted. We do not feel that any principle of security is being violated by this present release. We hope no one will sensationalize what has been said here (the more facts in themselves being the most remarkable news story in recorded history).

Your BSR Director has had an interview of about an hour with the Controls Ramon Natalli and the Yada di Shi'ite, relative to the news here summarized. A transcript of this is being prepared (mimeo from tape recording). We shall have to charge for this - mimeo of that length is too expensive for free distribution. If you want a copy send us (say) $1.00 - or less or more. This transcript is a note of sanity and wisdom in a very jittery world - and highly informative as well.

In this connection we point out (since it's all in the family, so to speak, and no axe to grind) that all basic information concerning the aeroforms, given us by the MP Controls in 1946, has been and is now being verified - their origin and purpose, their etheric nature, their operation by etheric or space people, much of the super-physics involved and which now is so devastating to the textbook science of the experts assembled at the EAF Base. The tide has been turning in our favor for some time - and it now reaches its flood stage in a great historical event. Quite seriously, the destiny of our race and planet hangs in delicate balance - but the issue is in our own hands and Mankind can and will win through into a better world.....M.Layne.

FLYING SAUCER LANDING AT EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE

MUROC DRY LAKE, CALIFORNIA

The following recording was made April 17, 1954, at San Diego, California. Seven persons present, Mark Probert, medium. The first part of the recording relates to a report received on this date dealing with the landing of Flying Saucers at a California airbase and their inspection by our own scientists and by high governmental authorities.

"I am Ramon Natalli," said the Control.

"Good afternoon, Ramon."

"We are sitting in on a highly critical subject," said Natalli. "My friends, in the passing years that we have had the honor and pleasure of speaking to you it is, I think if looked back upon, quite plain what we were trying to say. That is, your civilization is at a very dangerous point, bordering on the razor's edge of annihilation.

"My friends, you have undoubtedly been keenly aware that we have been holding back much of what we could have said because it is and has been our policy not to sow seeds of fear, because unless we could see your civilization doing something active about the coming debacle it would be cruel instead of reasonable and kindly to tell what we have learned; the whole story. Now, we do not say your civilization is necessarily even now going into destruction. There is yet time to bring about a peaceful and intelligent way of life. All changes taking place in individual things or things en masse tends toward some chaotic conditions, but this does not mean that it must all end in chaos. However, man, in his blindness, has been charging madly ahead with no thought of where his actions are going to take him. You have become proud of your mechanized age and have lost track of your own divinity.

"There is a great responsibility lying on the shoulders of every individual coming into the physical world. That responsibility is to keep as much of his own environment in balance so that the world can continue to exist as the necessary school in which he will come to know consciously of this aforementioned Higher Self or divinity. The people have been lulled to sleep by those wishing for greater power. Religion, having control over politics and over scientific action, has been the sleeping potion put upon the people. You, here in this country have been given, in the beginning of the founding of this country, what is called the Bill of Rights, but you have been lulled to sleep, and the right to act individually has been destroyed, I am no moralist. I am speaking about nations at large. It is not a matter of material moralistic viewpoints. It all entails a greater scheme by far than are morals or ethics. It entails the continued existence not only of your earth but of your entire solar system.

"In the past," said Natalli, "we have come towards minimizing the actions of atomic power as a deadly threat against your solar system. Now this must stop. We must break clean and true. The truth is that man, starting in 1945, took into his conscious hands the use of a force so devastating in its potential powers as to turn your earth into a nova and thereby affect the entire solar system. Little by little your scientific minds have delved deeper and deeper into the building blocks called matter, called energy, but few have publicly mentioned that within the atom are forces as yet untouched and unknown to the greater majority of the scientific minds, force that if unleashed would turn your whole solar system into a nova. All the bodies in your solar system would explode and end in loose matter floating through space, almost dead matter, for when it finally ceased its actions, it would be on a very, very low level. Within the nucleus of an atom are forces up into the hundreds of thousands of millions of pounds of pressure per square inch."

"Hundreds of thousands of millions of pounds?" asked Irene P.

"These have not been touched yet. These, my friends, as we have mentioned before, in the use of the atomic bomb there is only one tenth of one percent forces disrupted in the atom."

"One tenth of one percent of the total forces resident within the atom?"

"Yes. Now, in the hydrogen fusion action the forces are many thousands of times greater. Believe me, the end of the actions of the hydrogen explosions by your country, England, and Russia, is nowhere near in sight. Many strange things are yet to follow due to this. Gravity, it is said, has no action in the nucleus of an atom, that it is all electronic forces within. No, as small and seemingly insignificant and quite invisible as the nucleus of an atom is, it does feel the effects of gravity, for it creates a surface and it is when this surface or part of it is disrupted that the gravitational force is torn away from it. Being invisible does not mean intangibility and a small body containing within it such tremendous bundles of force, creates a surface that is equal to a great sun and takes that much gravitational pressure to hold its parts in place. So what with the tearing away of the gravity field against the atom and letting loose these tremendous pressures, you would shatter your earth. Now your world of science is going to play with not simply atoms as you believe you have known them in the past, but with subatomic particles and the deeper you go into the nucleus the finer, the more dense, therefore the greater forces pent up in each layer. Now I'm certain you know nothing about what is called the inner parts of the nucleus of an atom, huh? These forces are largely yet unknown by your scientists and the great Einstein will have to change some of his ideas with respect to relativity in the course of time. It is in these deeper layers or more intense waves of what is loosely called energy but yet it is substance that cannot even be classified as energy. It is in those fields that these great things have their existence."

"You are referring now to the Etherians?" asked I.P.

"Yes. Man will learn how to move in and out of various frequencies," said Natalli, "but that is a long way ahead on the path of his mental evolution. The Etherian people do not care who is right or who is wrong, they are coldly disinterested in isms. They are simply trying to keep man from disrupting the entire solar system, and they are going to do it if they have to destroy the whole human race from earth and transplant other beings from other planets who have been seeking to get here anyway. This is not a threat. This is not because they are concerned with any moral aspects. This is simply a direct statement of fact with no emotions behind it. Now you want to say something to me?"

"Have you been present at Muroc lately?" asked Meade Layne.

"We have been there many times and have known what was going on there. Several months ago there were certain things we had to say to you but conditions could not be arranged so we could get together, however it was better so, and I am of the opinion and I know all of us of the Inner Circle are of the same opinion that it would be wiser not to put any of this out to the public."

"That includes what is in Dr. Light's letter?"

"That is what I am saying."

"I believe Dr. Light is intending to publish in some form a statement. Not all of it was in that letter which I read which perhaps you heard, but there are some portions of it at any rate."

"Well then, I would suggest that you and he arrive at what you think is possible to certain individuals and that will be enough."

"Of course it's quite plain that what has taken place at Muroc will leak out."

"It is better, sir, that it leaks out through somebody else than you."

"What leaks out is almost certain to be distorted and misunderstood. That also is to be reckoned with."

"This is correct, I agree, but if you do give out this thing, these writings of good Dr. Light, it would be better that you send them only to a very chosen few."

"That was my intention. If we printed anything at all after consultation with Dr. Light, we would send it only to members of our group; to our Associates and particularly to those whom we consider responsible."

"And I am suggesting that one of these be the man Desmond Leslie."

"Do you feel, Ramon, that Eisenhower is sincere in his attempts at what he might try to do? Is pressure being put on him, or what?"

"This man like all men of his kind in high government positions is the leader or is a symbol of such in your country. They are always under pressure. They cannot act alone. Back of him in the shadows stand such individuals as Bernard Baruch and next the High Roman Catholic Church. These are the two main forces. Next in line are the powerful dictators of Communism. Now if you will remember a quote in the 'Magic Bag,' 'Now it starts from words to blows.'"

"Yes, I recall that."

"And it shall not stop," said Natalli, "until all of these insane forces are either destroyed or made so weak they can no longer function to any dangerous extent."

"You heard Dr. Laane mention in Dr. Light's letter in reference to Communism and it taking over, be bound to it, the excerpt from an article in Time magazine. What is your opinion there?"

"There will be no such a thing. Under no circumstances will this take place. It will be Russia that must go down, and I do not mean the Russian people. I mean the Communistic regime. This is a deadly force to the individual's existence, but so is Catholicism."

"I think you made reference in the 'Magic Bag' also that the two would fight one another until they would weaken each other."

"Until death, or one or the other are dust. My friends, these two factions cannot survive together on the planet and have peace. Now the Etherian peoples have come and have been in close contact with the various governments of the more important, or by that I mean larger countries. Peace must come. China will be in time recognized, the communistic government there, but the Etherians, not being interested in isms will arrange it so they will live under their own beliefs as each nation must, but think little about them as ruling the world. No nation can rule the world and no one man can rule another."

"Do you see anything pertaining to the excerpt in the letter also regarding dividing our country into north, East, South, and West?"

"No, this cannot be done. This must not be done. There are too many barriers right now. All the existing barriers must come down; the iron curtains and the feather curtains. You have a feather curtain of democracy and sometimes this curtain gets like iron, too."

"Do you foresee an armed struggle in this country between communism and established forces?"

"No, I do not."

"Do you foresee our being drawn into the Indo-Chinese conflict; armed intervention?"

"No, not armed intervention. This I do not see. I see great supplies and occasional individuals, advisers, and those who are adventurers joining in," said Natalli, "but as for your country sending troops and such, no, not unless China and Russia join forces."

"That is not too likely though, is it?"

"No, it is not because the Chinese Communism is not on the same level as Russian Communism and whether the Western world makes these facts known or not is of little difference. Before the Czars and priests of the Russian churches were thrown out, the Russian people lived in total slavery. Communism as a government has brought great relief to the masses though it has also meant a great deal of pressure to the individual's way of growth. Remember, the Russian people, being almost entirely illiterate in those past times, now are largely educated, at least academically so. The modes of action of the individual are greatly impeded but his economic way of life is far superior to what it was while under the iron rule of Czarism and the Russian orthodox church."

"Ramon Natalli, do you see the members of the Masonic lodge becoming aware of the fact that they should become more true Masons and less interested in the material gains they get out of becoming a Mason?"

"Not unless the heads in the different parts of the country do something actively to awaken members and to let go those who refuse to make a concentrated effort to know Masonry and what it really entails."

"Yada, especially, within the last few weeks has mentioned several times the renewed activity of Catholicism trying to disrupt Masonry, and I thought perhaps there might be something of importance you wanted to mention in that respect."

"Only that they are starting this concentrated drive because they think of the Masons as they do of the Communists. They are the only two great forces that threaten the existence of Catholicism, but at the present the Masonic threat is very weak. It had better start strengthening itself."

"Is President Eisenhower, at the moment, planning to release information about the arrival of the Etherians in the coming months?"

"He is, but in doing so, providing pressure is not put upon him, he will have to be very careful how he words his thoughts, otherwise you will have wide-spread panic."

"I just wanted to ask if his so-called rulers would allow him to express himself as freely as he thought advisable?"

"This will be up to him, I do not know."

"You mentioned Bernard Baruch as being his closest pressure," asked FO. "It is my understanding though that he is very much associated with the ruling factors of Russia, and if he is that close to them, that is pretty close to us."

"Your president has been trying to carry on with the former president Roosevelt's policy of keeping peace as much as possible, but he is caught between Catholicism and the Russian Communist regime. I think, however, that the Russian government, as we have said in the past, has no desire to start an open war. We have said before that though she may make advances and seem to offer great immediate danger when she is threatened, she will back down. Her policy has been and shall be to undermine all nations of the world and take them in one piece. She will instigate other countries into wars but she herself will not enter in."

"Is it your opinion that our governmental authorities and also the great ones in the world of science will conform to ideas and restrictions suggested or urged on them, or commanded by the Etherians?"

"Yes, they will," said Natalli.

"So that research on the high explosives will at least have some limit put upon them?"

"Yes, I do, but in order to do this, Catholicism will have to be taken into hand. It will have to cease as a threatening faction against Communism."

"I don't understand, Natalli, what will have to cease?"

"Catholicism," said Natalli, "will have to cease as a constant threatening faction against Communism before any real lasting peace can be made. Catholicism acts as a constant irritant and will not let the political leaders bring peace."

"Do you think there is any power able to enforce that upon the Catholic hierarchy without extreme violence?"

"It is in the scheme of things that certain measures will be taken by the Etherians to disseminate the ideas of Catholicism being the only Godly force on earth and then destroy the teachings."

"In using the word disseminate, you mean nullifying or scattering the Catholic dogma?"

"Yes."

"Is there any connection with all of this letting of the Hawaiian Islands become a state or not become a state? Is there any connection at all with that?"

"Of course," said Natalli. "The spreading out in territory of any nation is always painful and acts as a threat to another nation, for the more one nation gets more countries to spread out in, the smaller grows every other nation."

"It is what happened to England," continued Natalli, "when she started her empire building. Every nation went down before her. She became the ruling faction of the earth to a great extent. She is now reaping the rewards of her iron-fisted way."

"Before you go, Natalli, I would like to return to trivia about the mesons and their effect on glass. Is that all right, can you speak of that? As I understand it the fractures are due to meson impact and I just don't understand why they occur almost entirely on the windscreens, on the front of cars and not on the side windows, not on windows in houses, not on eye glasses and other glass construction."

"It will take place in the course of time."

"In the near future?"

"Yes."

"Now can there be anything so selective as that? If they are meson rays I should imagine they would come from all directions."

"It is not meson rays that are doing them by impact. It is by causing chemical changes to take place in certain points in the atmosphere, affecting the chemistry of the atmosphere that produces substance that causes the breakdown of the particles that hold the glass together."

"Why only on some glass and not on others, and in certain positions and not in other positions?"

"This, at the moment, I cannot say."

"It is said they seem like little pieces of soot, sort of like what we call coal soot, or whatever you want to call it, that drops on the windshields."

"This forms a chemical substance that when touching this glass causes several intense units of heat to be let go, penetrating the glass, and instead of dissolving it, powdering it."

"Do you identify the mesons with cosmic rays?"

"Yes. Now, my friends, this is part of the action of chemical changes taking place in your atmosphere due to cosmic radiation and hydrogen radiation and other atomic particles mingling in the atmosphere."

"Do you differentiate between hydrogen radiation as you just mentioned it and mesons?"

"No."

"Hydrogen is the origin of it?" asked someone.

"Yes, but it is all in the cosmic radiation, you have the forces coming directly to the earth at great speeds and penetrating through to the earth and letting loose this substance, hydrogen, into the atmosphere. You do not have it moving in that direction but is scattering in the atmosphere in a more condensed form. Am I understood?"

"Well, I'm not sure I understand it completely."

"This graphite-like substance that has been found as a small residue on the glass is sometimes magnetic and sometimes not."

"This is to be expected for it is metallic substance and charged with a positive force. This reason for some of them being and others not it is only because this positive charge is of a very short duration and is lost."

"That sounds reasonable."

"Is there a powerful heat effect when the glass punctures?"

"Yes, but it is not heat as in the way -- let me put it perhaps this way. What is the temperature to break down carbon artificially?"

"You mean to burn it?"

"Yes."

"Several thousand degrees."

"Yet the body burns it at 98.6 degrees, huh? How is this? It is because it burns it at very minute quantities. It is letting loose energy in minute quantities but having intense force within. If these particles land on you, your body, they will cause for a moment some sensation."

"Is there any harm done to humans at all by this phenomenon, so far?"

"No."

"Is there any danger?"

.. "No, because the charge is of too short a duration."

"Dr. Layne, you made a statement there in the kitchen of someone who had made a prediction a while ago that we would have quite a few, what was that again, phenomena taking place."

"Criswell." Said Natalli.

"He predicts," said Meade Layne, "and even dated some seven catastrophes of considerable magnitude in the coming twelve months. Also one near at hand of great magnitude."

"If you do not mind," said Natalli, "I will go. My friends, again I suggest you live today, you live now. You have a song written. This song goes, 'There is no tomorrow,' You remember it?"

"There is no tomorrow, there is just today." said I.P.

"Live today. I don't mean to resort to debauchery, I mean simply live and enjoy while you may."

"I hope I didn't give the idea that we were primarily interested in Mr. Criswell. That's incidental."

"Yes. I bid you good afternoon."

THE CONTROLS CHANGED --- RAMON NATALLI WAS REPLACED BY YADA DI SHI'ITE.

"Sina, Sina-ha, I am Yada Di Shi'Ite."

"Good afternoon, Yada," said the group.

"Have you been listening to us?" said F.O.

"Could I help it?" said Yada. "It sounds like there is an air of pessimism and I am not at all certain you are wrong, but nevertheless it is not going to improve your daily living to hold onto that attitude. When danger threatens all one can sensibly do is to face it and see what it is consisting of, for no danger, no threat that nature itself has made against the life forces has ever been so strong, so overpowering as to prevent man from finding some way of carrying on in the face of it. Though man has been completely destroyed from the face of the earth several times in the history of the earth's existence, he has always returned with a stronger and all around better body for resisting similar dangers in later times. Man is largely concerned with the loss of his body. Naturally everything that threatens it or tries to oppose its actions is something fatal to him."

"We of the Inner Circle and I do not think the Etheric people have any certain sure positive antidote to save man from his destiny, no matter what its nature may be. To take a course of action to thwart what we as individuals, as well as en masse, have earned by our action is to thwart the growth of the human mind. If that is inevitable it must be a part of the necessary growth of the human being, for the word death simply means change, the law of change. If those of us who realize this will keep our emotional selves in check, we shall be the ones to survive and to aid a few others to survive; survive any danger that threatens. But the world that Catholicism was a deadly thing to the human being has been more or less made light of by many of you. I repeat again, it is the greatest danger to the human being and the earth, worse than Communism because it has a grip on man's mind and soul and spirit."

"Put there with fear."

"Yes," Said Yada. "Communism one can get over. It is a mild ailment. But Catholicism and the whole Christian religion as it is and has been for several hundreds and hundreds of years is a very deadly disease, eating like cancer the brain and controlling the mind. There is no escape from it even into the, what you call, death state."

"Pardon me, do I understand you to say that it is practiced in the Etheric as well?"

"It is practiced in the astral planes."

"That is what I meant to say."

"Yes. In Tibet, in India, when one is dying, they have talkers to the spirit or the soul of that one leaving the body. These men come and whisper continually in the ear of the one departing, guiding him through the lower planes. Had that one learned while active on the earth, he would not have to have someone create conditions for him as he leaves. More than that, it cannot hold or last, these suggestions cannot hold or last for very long a period of time and then that one is as lost as ever. And the same goes here on your earth in the Western part of the world, and Christianity where it is whispered in his ears by the priest - craft constantly of what he is to expect in the after life, so that when he passes he is still caught up under the dominating suggestions of these individuals. If you as an individual are to be truly free, it is here and now you must learn to be. No one is going to help you. You are the only responsible one. Take authority in your own hands.

"Yada, in reference to current events, do you feel free to tell us anything about what lies ahead in the coming months?"

"Some suggestions have been made that Chiang Kai Shek will invade the mainland of China, but he will not. This man is a great coward. He is the last of the great land barons living under the guise of Christianity. Nehru is trying to keep Western powers from using his country as a battleground. Russia is very thoroughly surrounded by a great Western arsenal. She could not move to strike without bringing on her immediate obliteration. Yet it is like keeping a mad dog in a kennel. You have to keep constant vigil upon it. The Catholic powers will try to force manpower and ammunitions to be sent to this country and other countries to fight in Indo-China. They may succeed. If this takes place, Russia will try to come out of her kennel and so join with China. It is said by the great Nostradamus, 'The Red hordes shall come down from the north.' You know of that, huh?"

"Yes."

"This you must watch for," said Yada, "the possibilities are now very strong."

"He also predicted though that the Chinese would be in the streets of Moscow."

"The Chinese people are seeking a better way of life. They do not need more land, they need greater education, and how to use that which they have. The Chinese people as people do not want war, but they are driven into it by the leaders of their country, those who are trying to destroy the land barons. My friends, when we reach over here to destroy one enemy, there is always another at our backs. This is always the way of life individually and nationally, for life is better through the laws of opposition. No one can create a Utopia of the kind in which there is not struggle. So you can constantly expect it. Again I go to your Christian Bible and quote, 'There shall be wars and rumors of wars as long as the earth endureth.' Is this not so? But you can, you the world, can have a minimum of peace if, if."

"Such a two-letter word, but it has a big meaning."

"Yada, one question."

"Please."

"We read much of the Arab trouble with the Jews, and of course our papers over here are not allowed to give us the Arab side of it, only the Jewish side because of the power, money and advertising, such as you know. What is the actual condition over there as far as the troubles are concerned?"

"Very bad, because the Jewish people want to spread out and possess as much land as is possible. They want full control. They feel strong now because they do have a foothold in the Holy Land, so-called. It was predicted in your Christian Bible that they would return to the Holy Land, huh? Times have changed reason and purposes. Each race of people desires to dominate other races of people. The Jewish people and the Arabs have been enemies since time that I can remember. When they came down out of the Himalaya mountains, the Jewish people, or the black people, the crimes they committed everywhere they went were of an atrocious nature. They attempted to rule by force and enslavement. That is why they were enslaved when they attempted to attack and enslave the Babylonians. Everywhere they went they have caused terrible suffering, for they have no belief in a Higher Self, though the rulers in the beginning, such men as Moses, tried to bring them this idea. The thought lasted for a period of time and held them under some control, but it is not there any more. They have no belief in survival, therefore they have no reason to do anything to better their condition. There will be much trouble yet between the Jewish people and the Arabs. India must lose a great number of her people if she expects to survive as a nation."

"She can't feed as many as she has, is that right?"

"That is right, nor can the world continue to feed her."

"She only gets bigger." Said F.O.

"This is true also of China," said YADA

"I thought that you had said here quite some time ago though that great numbers of the Chinese and the Indians would be annihilated."

"They still will. This must take place if these nations expect to come back but I do not see them coming back. I see these nations dying, more and more."

"That started a long time ago."

"Thousands of years."

"Does it look like the removal will take place due to natural destruction?" asked RGM.

"Yes."

"You have certainly given us a lot to think about. Of course you have for a long time."

"I am unloading myself. I am selfish."

"We love to be selfish with you and hear it."

"To give is to get less pressure on your back."

"A while ago you were stating that we cause a war over here then they are jumping on our backs. That is the reason we have our eyes in the front, because that is the way that nature balances out."

"But you can keep your other eye, the mind's eye looking in the back, watching from all sides."

"But then we raise ourselves to be that."

"Yes," said YADA.

"We don't need the front eyes."

"Yada, the other night you were talking about electronic light which produces illumination without shadows. Could you talk a little more about that?"

"Now I am not certain as to the method used to bring about this condition but it appears it was a force causing electrons to jump their orbits and I think as you may know when an electron jumps its orbit it sends off various kinds of light or what you may call photons."

"That's right," said RGM.

"Now," said YADA, "if the jump is a great one, a violent one, it may cause ultra-violet radiation. If not, simply a unit of heat or infrared. The jump of these electrons was controlled by an instrument of which I am not familiar so that when it took place it let off simply white light or a combination of the prism in one. Perhaps the man Natalli would know of such instruments and how -----I must go."

"Yada, we appreciate your coming again."

"Thank you."

(YADA withdraws and Mark returns to normal consciousness, but Yada then speaks to Mark clairaudiently)

"They have made a kind of outpost there of," said Mark clairaudiently, "have contacted the various governments and government officials there."

"That is in what countries now?" asked Irene Probert

"Argentina and all those down there, but the best results have to be gotten in this country because we are the most educated country in the world. He says all that happens, all the changes that take place in the other nations, the better part of it must work out through this country."

"Yada, do you see the hydrogen bomb being exploded the 22nd of April as previously expected?" asked someone.

"He says he is afraid he does." (A later statement was to the effect that the April 22nd test probably would not take place, as scientists were growing more concerned about the effects)

"Of course you see we're not the only ones who are letting them go." Said F.O.

"Irene was referring to a specific one." Said RGM.

"I'm referring," said Irene, "to the one that Eisenhower made the statement that it would be exploded the 22nd when he was in Palm Springs. Do you still see the danger of the terrific earthquake happening around in Japan and in those islands."

"Yes," said Mark clairaudiently, "He said this bomb is going to weaken conditions very much in the interior of the earth."

"Why in the hell can't they let well enough alone?" asked F.O.

"And he said that is bad because the cosmic radiation that is now pouring to the earth is so much greater than it has ever been before and it's causing a more rapid breakdown by itself in the undercrust of the earth without adding more to it. He says that when one of those things is let off, the vibrations travel for over a thousand feet under

"Yes, that would be right." Said R.G.M.

"Mr. Reynolds brought us an article he clipped from the paper today stating that some of the so-called inactive volcanoes in Alaska are now beginning to smoke."

"He said," replied Mark clairaudiently, "that if you will remember, he told you that would take place some months ago, and he says that there is a strong possibility that the sacred mountain in Japan will blow its top, Fujiyama."

"The dropping of that hydrogen bomb also will increase the activity of earthquakes then, too."

"That's right, and create more storms, more terrible rain-storms than we have ever seen before, the wind, violent winds."

Mr. Layne founded Borderland Sciences Research Associates in 1945 in San Diego, California and began publishing the mimeographed Round Robin journal of borderland research. He was introduced to the Flying Saucer phenomenon Oct. 10, 1946 when he heard that there had been a sighting of a large, torpedo-shaped space ship over San Diego the night before. Mark Probert saw the thing circling around over the city from a downtown hotel where he worked, along with dozens of other San Diegans. The term Flying Saucer wasn't to become popular for another nine months! So when the Gerald Light letter came to Meade in 1954 he had already been considering the reality of the Flying Saucer Aeroforms for nine years! In all that time the Inner Circle never budged from their original statements that the UFOs were materializations from other space-time continuums, that they came in all shapes and sizes, and that there were both good guys and bad guys in space and on other planets, just as there are here on earth. He did his best to educate the public in these mind-stretching matters, until ill health forced him to retire from the BSRA directorship in 1959. He asked Mr. Crabb and take over and carry on. Meade made his transition into the Fourth Dimension in March, 1961.

YADA DI SHI'ITE: It is great pleasure to have you here again. Though we are separated in body we are always together in light. When man comes to realize this he will not feel ever alone. He will know how to bring himself entirely in tune with his fellow man whenever he wills to do so. It is not wise thing to waste time, even though we have endless amounts of it. Every moment we are doing what is called nothing we are wasting time - now you are not to tell me that time is wasting me - huh? Now if I can be of some service to you, please say so.

-- We came down here to see if we could get some insight into the nature of the program you are putting over here. Our interest is in technical subjects and how far can it be carried - how much are we permitted to know and what progress we can make.

YADA: It is of the utmost importance to yourself as well as mankind in general. As to how much we can give depends urely today upon our ability to pass our thoughts through the mind of the boy. For you people here are having the right to know all that can be so given to you. Under other circumstances this is not so. We are forbidden to speak of certain things.

- - But to this group you will talk?

YADA: Anything you desire me to. The only barrier possibly being the brain of the boy and our ability to pass our thoughts through that brain. An instrument is not any better than the operator. So I will do my humble best. It is most difficult to know what is to be classified as important or unimportant. The importance of athing depends surely on the ability of the seeker to use that which he has been given. Now if you have question to start with it is my honor to listen.

- - We know a few things about contemporary physics and electronics but there are certain properties of magnetic fields and gravity that are entirely new to us. We have a little information that says such things are possible but can it be translated so that we can more easily grasp it in our own minds?

YADA: Now as to your ability to grasp - that I do not know. Then my ability to express too. Man is composed not of the substance he appears to be. That which he appears to be is as you already know surface matter, bu this that goes to make up the surface matter is what may be called the thing in itself - or perhaps the thing in itself can be called the nature of the structure of the building blocks called atoms. Now for many years it was supposed that the atom consisted of two hard particles komogeneous in their nature or unable to be divided further. But in your times 'it has been discovered that these chemicals - hard particles - homogeneous - were themselves made up of particles. In speaking of the nucleus of the atom it seems to be to be thought of as a kind of homogeneous substance. Even today what you are slowly discovering is that it is itself made up of other particles and these particles have what is called a nucleus or center or core with satellite or electronic bodies moving around them.

- - This is within the nucleus of the atom itself?

YADA: Now the reason for the atom being so difficult to smash is on account of the interior gravitational pull. Truthfully the atom has never been smashed - only a piece of it has been blown away - thrown away - which is the outer shell or one of the outer shells. Should you ever truly break up the atom you would not only turn it off into another but you would turn your whole solar system into what is called super solar - it would cause the whole solar system to become nothing but light radiation - many million times brighter than your sun.

- - That could be done by breaking one atom apart?

YADA: Yes.

- - That will probably never happen?

YADA: needless to say we hope not.

--- That information will be withheld from the nuclear scientists?

YADA: Man is unpredictable so that is one question I cannot say no to. Now in respect to the earth - the earth and other planetary bodies are very much more than is yet realized like the atom - like the atom world - these planetary bodies can be considered as the electronic bodies of the solar system - the sun acting as the nucleus. Each one of these planetary bodies is like an electron inasmuch as they are made up of volts and the earth has many shells covering it. It is indeed made up of nothing but a series of shells within shells. The electron in the atom is also divisible in that it is separate from the nucleus or positive charge - it lets loose a quanta of heat. Now what is heat - - may be called a wave pattern - you know?

- - Yes.

YADA: So if it is a wave pattern in order for it to move or be in the form of oscillation it itself is made up of a series of particles.

- - The radiation itself?

YADA: Yes. So it may be classified as pure energy - pure energy moving with a peculiar kind of motion - producing sometimes non-visible light.

- - Heat?

YADA: Yes. Other times visible and called light and also measurable by what is called to the senses heat but in other kinds of motion this energy can become cold radiation - cold light.

- - A definite frequency of the radiation with cold as higher or lower rate of frequency?

YADA: Neither higher nor lower but a particular kind of motion.

- - Are you speaking of sonic(?) solar motion, or periodic, or erratic?

YADA: Both periodic and erratic.

- - The difference between cold and hot. Is the hot uniform and the cold transient? The cold is erratic and the hot is steady?

YADA: Yes. With your continuous flow you have what is called heat as realized by the senses or by instrument - but in this erratic action the heat is not as classified in heat.

- - Measurable temperature gauge? You refer to heat as our sensation?

YADA: Yes. Now in actuality, whatever that may be, there is no such condition as hot or cold - these are purely sensations of the physical structure. All that can be said regarding motion is that it is a mechanical action with no other measurable quality to it. Now as for gravity - nothing of itself has any weight - all depends upon this thing called gravity - so that your weights and measures in atomics have no intrinsic value of themselves.

- - That is correct.

- - Well, I'll go along with it but it will have to be clarified to get a clearer picture.

YADA: Now all these bodies in space are discharging energy - your heart included. This energy sometimes seen from what you call comet. This energy is noted flowing from the comet to be moving always in the direction of the sun.

- - the tail points toward the sun -

YADA: This should show what - a body rushing through space could not continuing to discharge the energy the comets do for a great length of time as some comets do, by themselves - this energy would have to be constantly re-supplied to the body of the comet. It is pulling energy from sun through that tail constantly.

- - The energy is being circulated?

YADA: Right.

- - Is there any energy of the sun coming back to the comet that we don't see?

YADA: Yes. The energy is constantly being supplied by the sun.

- - Then the energy is being replenished by an invisible light?

YADA: Yes. And the sun is the source of this supply - also it is said that the planetary bodies - their source was the sun - that the sun broke - part of it - during the time of its formation.

- - Are you saying the earth was originally part of the sun?

YADA: That is what was thought but it is not true. These bodies have been formed by tone or harmonical vibration.

- - By tones do you mean tone in the sense we do?

YADA: No. The sun formed on its own particular harmonical note - the sun in itself is a kind of nova.

- - but a controlled nova -

YADA: Yes. But nevertheless it is a state of expansion. When it finally decides to expand and become perhaps what we call a giant or super nova it will take great period of time to do this and perhaps by then men will have advanced off the earth to other planets and perhaps away to other solar systems.

- - Is there a high order of life on the sun?

YADA: Yes, but it is of such nature it is almost foolish to talk about it. You understand that? Before this earth became sufficiently cool to form rock sediments it was under control and visited from time to time by those higher minds or higher intelligences to watch and study these formations.

- - The sun is not made up of three-dimensional matter - it is all gaseous?

YADA: It is difficult to say that because the suns are being supplied constantly by debris. The sun takes this debris and breaks it down into usable substances abstracting the substance of the life force of the atom discharging them into space in what is called cosmic radiation.

- - The cosmic dust - is that based on the sun's activity?

YADA: Yes. Due to the expanding of the universe. Now the universe is or is becoming a nova because of the expansion. The chemistry of the island universe is going from the inside center outward. Breakdown of energy - and I use the word in special way - the breakdown is such as to cause these fields of darkness that seem to be nothing in the sky but are obliterating billions of stars beyond that field - this space - this substance - weighing up to billions of tons per square inch.

- - It doesn't permit the light to pass through?

YADA: Yes. Now you can imagine the energy it takes to break this substance down. It is an intangible density.

- - This is a particular form of ether not the same as the ether in all space?

YADA: That is right. This is a more congealed substance but held together by its own created gravitation - pressure in the center of the field - as one moves towards the center the density becomes increasingly greater and immense pressure - now when this substance starts moving through space it causes a great driving force to all bodies in that island universe of the solar system or what is called galaxy. All bodies are in the process of constant expansion or contraction, from the atom itself to the universe.

- - In other words atoms expand and contract continuously?

YADA: Yes. It is the contracting and expanding action in the atom that is followed through in increasing pressures to what you call the universe of the distance.

- - Is that the effect in the atoms or outside?

YADA: Outside the atom. This of course when these building blocks called the molecules gather together to make form, the intensity of that other outer flowing pressure will cause that form to have great strength or weakness.

- - Is that how you account for the difference in various substances?

Thank You.

- - We have had some interesting discussions on how the universe was built. Now can you tell us what is gravitation and how is it related to magnetic and electric effects?

YADA: Gravity appears to come from those vast distances - motion of a whole system. In what is called electromagnetic field - according to the state of the vibration of the field - what is called the source of attraction or repulsion has its origin again in the center of that field.

- - The gravitational field as associated with the earth is concentrated in the center of the earth?

YADA: That is right - concentrated in the center of the earth and making a play between the center of the earth and the center of the sun.

- - At the present time we can generate electricity and consider all magnetic effects are the result of electric charges - but as yet contemporary science has not isolated electric current as such. What is the difference between electric, magnetic, and gravitational fields?

YADA: In simple fields like in a magnet - this is due again from what is called the pull from the center of the field - the pressure of the force moving out to attract - is not at the edge of the field. It is sensation of the pull - its force of pull does not originate from the edge but the center.

- - A pull towards the magnet?

- - The magnetic field that arises from the flow of electrons through conductors this magnetic field so that it is a field of electrically charged motion.

YADA: Yes. But due to the peculiar motion of the electron in the magnetic field it gives no sensation or in what is called electricity.

- - It is not a force like electro motive force in the same electric circuit?

YADA: Right. It can hardly be called an electronic field in any sense - that which flows from the magnet - thinking of electrons as negative charges is not really saying anything because the electron has no particles of its own, but the nature of the force depends on the motion it is in.

- - The force resulting from the magnetic field?

YADA: Yes. That which is called electricity is the electrons in moving through space cause a frictional motion or action in what is called atmosphere - in other words a negative substance moving in a positive solution.

- - Are you referring to air? Electricity is the flow of electrons through atmosphere?

YADA: Yes. It is the flow of negative particles through a positive solution called atmosphere. Without this atmosphere there would be no noticeable or measurable action produced or field produced.

- - At low frequencies we contact? How is that associated with atmosphere?

YADA: You have experimented with putting wire in a vacuum to run charges of electricity through it?

- - That has been used - you get corona discharges that way - I have observed these experiments.

YADA: That is the result after the electricity has passed through it?

- - Well - at the time - if you have a sharp point you set a corona discharge - you see light from the energy leaving the point.

YADA: Which should prove that a vacuum is not a vacuum.

- - That is true - it is a reduction in air pressure - we can never get a perfect vacuum here.

YADA: When I use the word atmosphere I do not merely mean space.

- - Atmosphere means space and not air?

YAD: Yes. Now this which is called gravitation is itself electronic - you know that?

- - I suspected it was related but did not know.

YADA: Yes it is, and of course is from the center of the earth to not only the suns but what is called these great density substances.

- - An interchange of electricity that results in this gravity?

YADA: Yes. The pressure of these substances of great density, but also mixed with that which is called cosmic radiation, and cosmic radiation has a short wave which penetrates the earth causing a balance of breakdown and buildup in the chemistry of the earth.

- - Cosmic radiation is the essential part of maintaining the earth in its present condition?

YADA: Yes, without it there would be no life, and with excess of it there would be no life. All things with sap in them would die and you would have a body similar to the sun.

YADA: I have been listening and wondering - wondering makes life interesting - it is more speculation than concentration. These beings which we have sometimes classified Guardians of the earth and the solar systems, they understand how to break up, or better, separate the particles that go to make up the atom, without at the same time releasing --

- - Destructive radiation?

YADA: Yes. There was another word I wanted to use but that will do. They understand how to separate the links of force that join the particles together. It is not for one who knows not how - a dangerous work like trying to take the fuse from an unexploded bomb. Must be handled with very delicate precision. When your scientists learn how to do this they can peel the atom down as far as they want it - using the energies for what is necessary to produce action in the physical world.

- - We can get the use of atomic radiation without the difficulty that accompanies it?

YADA: Yes. That is the task of man, to get the energies from the atom without destroying himself in the process. Now in what is called the laws of nature, the atom is broken up in many parts without undue or excessive changes taking place around it. In the body, the physical body, it breaks down or burns up substances in such minute quantities and at the same time getting all the energies that are necessary. This is peeling the atom down slowly - this is releasing necessary energies. It takes about 2500 degrees Fahrenheit to burn carbon but the body does this at 98.6. It does this by breaking down in very minute quantities and it is the same way - these Guardians of the earth - they change matter by this simple process of slow breakdown - but slowness means time to you but not to them - and in the course of what you call time it will not mean time to you either - it will be plucking the particles from the atom in no given time.

- - You are explaining how the print was made in the metal?

YADA: Yes. By certain forms of magnetic radiation causing a change in the atomic motion which causes the atom to separate slowly without producing excessive quantity of heat, thereby causing a sudden expansion in the electronic fields. I do not know by what methods you do this, but by the power of the mind it can be done. But this is beyond the range of the material or mathematical scientists - most of them are not interested in what they call metaphysics - but concentration alone upon the body will cause a rise in heat temperature - right?

- - Yes.

YADA: This is done by the mind acting on breath, which causes an expansion and greater application of breath or breathing. This deeper breathing causes greater, more rapid oxidation, and oxidation is breakdown of matter, and certain breakdown of matter in certain speeds creates quantities of heat - so this when controlled by the mind can be projected out by the hands and produces a heat radiation of a slow kind which regenerates the cellular structure of the body through the building blocks of the cells. It expands the building blocks or the atoms - expands the pores - causing a greater flow of magnetism between themselves and the molecules.

- - Is that why it is so necessary to breathe properly to keep the body more pure?

YADA: With proper breath one can do with considerably less food and sleep. But with the drinking of pure water one can live for a great period of time alone on it for the breaking down of the water molecules produces greater energy than any food substance you eat.

- - That is our regular spring or natural water?

YADA: Yes. And the necessary natural life force of the body is atomic energy.

- - How about specific information as to methods of proper breathing?

YADA: The body, the lung capacity, is way down under the last rib. The greater majority of people breathe only to here. (pointing) This is very bad and definitely conducive to a short life. For it moves down here entirely without oxidation where germ life in the atmosphere comes in with the breath - goes down into the lungs and creates a mould substance - this shuts off the breathing capacity little by little.

- - If the lungs are in that condition now and we start using exercise could we break down the damage that has been done?

YADA: Yes. This is not alone the result of the use of tobacco - but is the result of a lifetime of improper breathing which is due to a feeling of insecurity, and this has come from a long life of living under the stress and strain of your beautiful highly cultivated civilization. This has developed within the body's lungs that which is called a mucous settling in the lower part of the lungs. Most of people in cities acquire some respiratory disease sooner or later due to the impurities in the air. Now in breathing when one is going to bed it is good to go some place where air is fresh first, and take slow inhale of breath and hold it and then let out - quickly. Do this three different times - letting out each time in gust - also do not go to sleep in room where there has been lots of people talking and breathing and using tobacco - first try to air out the room before you go to sleep. Then of great importance to breath is the drinking of pure water. This adds oxygen in the blood stream without breathing. There are no special secrets or mystical processes of breathing to keep the lungs in natural state of health - one but needs to learn to breathe deeply instead of in half of the lungs. The body self - the mind self - is the only necessity for the body without constant thought about it. You need not attempt to turn the work over to the conscious mind, for if you should do this and lapse into sleep you will die. That is where many people in the study of Yoga have caused themselves either insanity or death. That which is called the subconscious mind - it is the work of that to handle the body - but if you will tell the body self from time to time what is good for it, and say it definitely and act upon it definitely, you will have good health and you will destroy diseases already in the body and live as long as you want to live.

- - They say it is better to sleep North and South rather than East and West. Is there any difference?

YADA: There is a difference because the body and the chemicals within the body are subject to contact with what is called the North and the South magnetic poles. This if one sleeps to these lines of force can cause after a time chemical changes to take place in the body - bringing on the diseases for which your scientific minds have no cure.

- - Can you name one?

YADA: This which is called muscular atrophy - it acts upon the nervous system of the body -

- - Then you should sleep North and South?

YADA: If possible, yes.

- - With the head North?

YADA: Yes. The body is a storage battery. It is indeed what is called electro-dynamic - and I mean electro dynamic. It is a creator of energy - discharger of energy - and absorber of energy. These lines of force projected or discharged from the body - even what is called subconsciously - which is a way most of mankind lives - in detriment sometimes to your fellow man - if you are out of harmony with him these forces can actually cause disease of the body through the nervous system. Such diseases as skin diseases - ulcers in the interior of the body - especially in the intestines - growths in the productive organs.

- - Would it be possible to develop an instrument which would generate electric or magnetic forces or both which could be used on the body, and correct ills caused by loss of energy in the proper manner?

YADA: Yes, but do you have an instrument that can take a capacity measurement of the energies of the body?

- - I do not know of one now.

- - Especially in the electrical quanta

- - As in a battery?

YADA: Each human brain has its own particular quanta of electricity - no more and no less.

- - It would need to be tuned in to each particular individual?

YADA: That is right. If you could find the correct capacity for each brain then you would be able to use electric shocks - then they would not be 'shocks'. Remember the brain cells are like batteries.

- - How about using the brain as a dielectric? You use the term capacity. We use it in electricity to express the ability of a certain piece of apparatus to show on plates actual electric - what we call electric discharge which causes plates to be dielectric - and due to the electrically charged plates - proximity - becoming oppositely charged rapidly causes a change in itself - that is how a diathermal machine particles - causes a production of heat deep within the cells of the body.*

Q: This is of great benefit to the body but I fear your great scientists are not at all certain of the nature of electricity as a whole - or are they?

A: No, and the very crude experiments I was capable of performing on living cells showed that under even the most minute flow of current, the first effect you notice is the cell will completely disintegrate - flow out into the surrounding liquid.

Q: Because the cells of the body are made with a minute quantity of acid in them, and in the acid a minute gritty substance, so the electro-magnetism produced by the body is passing through these cells all the time. When passing through the cell it excites these gritty substances and so produces quanta of heat and discharge that heat and falls back upon itself again. In discharging this heat it has oxidized itself. Now the breathing process if done properly with the proper drinking of water, will cause the constant regeneration of the cells so they will not break down. They will not leave themselves as corpses to produce pus in the body, so you will live longer. It is the excessive breakdown of cells beyond the point of creating newer ones and the regeneration of the older ones that the body dies. Do you care to go into more detail regarding the relationship between gravity, magnetism, and electricity?

A: You made the statement that the gravitational force was electronic in nature.

Q: Not only are the suns in space producing cosmic radiation, but these great magnet and tensor fields also are producing and discharging electrons in space. The discharge of electrons from these darker bodies are not of what is called positive charge as the suns letting from themselves - they are more of what is called negative negative meaning they have little action on matter as far as breaking it down or heating charges - they simply act as lines of pressure - lines of force instead of what is called lines of energy.

A: The term lines - that is just a term so that we can grasp the idea in our own minds, not lines in themselves but a figure of speech?

Q: Yes. As we use the word waves. If you want to be metaphysical we shall break up the meaning by saying there are no lines or waves because there is nothing to make lines or waves in. Energy is something for other forces to become active in.

A: We cannot exclude the ether - (with reference to vacuums)

A: Speaking from what may be called an abstract approach we find it necessary to create an ether whether it is there or not -

A: Is it really there?

Q: Yes, because the particles that go to make up the ethers can be thought of - and that is interesting sometimes - as sub-sub-atomic matter - and as you 'sub' lower that that we go out of existence as far as the world of matter measurable is concerned - which brings us back to what we said - that the ether is there whether

Note: Stenographic notes for this paragraph are confused, but the speaker was simply trying to explain to the Control our usage of capacity and dielectric.

for a purpose or not. There is no such thing as nothingness. And every thing becomes a field for action, does it not? Everything is a kind of solution for everything else to become active in. Without solution in which chemical substances are measured in given quantities and processes there can be no form - because everything comes from these mixtures.

- - We have postulated the ether for the same reasons that we postulate the electrons

YADA: An electron is not here at a point in space but is everywhere present -

- - You mean it exists by itself in interstellar space?

YADA: It is difficult to say it exists by itself - however all bodies in space are but electrons.

- - That is why they are everywhere present?

YADA: But then we put it in a point in space - we have nothing out here.

- - Jeans remarks that the range of action of an electron is infinite.

YADA: In my time in the city of - - - those who became Yadas and had attained the last degree in the teachings shaved the head, using copper blades - these were instantaneously hardened by the power of electricity and a specific kind of acid.

- - A number of our friends would like to know about ancient methods of hardening metals, especially copper.

- - Yes - this question has been asked before. It involved treatment by electricity and acids.

YADA: It is a kind of acid that is highly conductive of electricity - more so than anything you have in your world today in your present civilization.

- - Would you be able to tell us some of the elements that are contained in this acid?

YADA: There are reasons for my not saying.

- - The auricalum (?) used by the Atlanteans was said to be a copper slag.

YADA: This high-powered instantaneous jolt of electricity caused the electrons to pick up and take minute quantities of the acid and incorporate it in the copper.

- - Is the acid more conductive than the copper itself?

YADA: Yes

- - Is there some reason we should not know about the hardening of copper? Is it the constituents or how to make it up that we should not know at the present time?

YADA: I am no judge as to what man should have or should not have - the restraint put upon me in this respect is not my own and the reasons for it seem to be that in so many of your inventions you have used force for destructive purposes. Now my friends I am not a moralist, but there are certain things best unknown to us until we reach another stage or level of mind to handle these right, and to know about this special method of handling copper would cause a great change in your scientific approach to many things besides that one thing. And that is something I wonder about when I hear people of the earth talk about the discs. The mere fact of these flying objects is nothing after all, for man has been flying for many centuries in one way or another. It is the advanced method - the chemical and physical ideas in general that were changed on your earth with the building of the discs. And the people cannot be given this right away, because if it fell into the hands of one government

- - From something of vegetable origin?

YADA: I do not think that would be very good for it would create a condition that I think would be unfavorable.

- - Would the blade become sharpened in this condition under the pyramid?

YADA: No, it would simply not become dull.

- - It stops the oxidation between the time you use it and the time you use it again?

YADA: It is the breakdown of oxidization. Oxidization is the creating of heat. When the oxidization is not necessarily destroyed but slowed up considerably then the razor will remain sharper longer.

- - Experiments showed that in dealing with foodstuffs - saprophytes tried to escape and run up along edge of pyramid and become dessicated?

YADA: Yes. Instead of rapid breakdown or oxidization the substance simply slows down in what is called deterioration and in slowing down it does not produce putrefaction but mummification.

- - What would happen to a man if he built himself a pyramid?

YADA: Be sure you fill your body with spices and wrap it in linens.

- - Would a pyramid tend to dry up a wound?

YADA: Yes. Slowing down the breakdown of cells would be slowing down oxidation and I have come to believe that everything falls apart through excessive oxidization.

- - Do you think it would have an effect on a surface cancer?

YADA: Let us say it would be nice to experiment on that. From my point of view yes. It might seal the cancer off from the other cells around it. It would at least slow the destructive malignant action.

- - Experiments seem to show that the effects of the pyramid are greatly increased if the apex is connected by wire to the tip of a cone.

YADA: In the same axis?

- - Simply connected by a metallic wire.

YADA: I do not understand.

- - The auralmeter shows the cone gives off a light -

- - When you say that oxidation is the cause of the breakdown that causes most of the trouble how about the Koch treatment which accelerates oxidation?

YADA: Because accelerating oxidization in the blood stream where there is an excess of poisons, the catalytic system has something to work upon besides the good cells of the blood therefore they will not affect the good cells.

- - In other words the catalysis is selective so the effect of the pyramid is its shape only?

YADA: I do not like the word only - but yes.

- - Is there any other geometric shape that would be useful?

YADA: It is of my opinion that all geometric forms have peculiar properties of their own. Do you agree?

- - Yes.

it would cause such difficulties with other countries that war would be inevitable - which it is anyway.

- - We have read articles about the discs that Canada is building - do you know of this?

YADA: Yes. It is being built and they are now making effort to build it in form - they know a way of operation, but not of the discs - for the substances of these are not the same as the groupings you have on your earth - your ideas are entirely different - the molecular structure is entirely different - that is, what you have on your earth.

- - Are we to assume there are no discs now in the possession of any country or anyone in our time? Is our Government in possession of a flying disc?

YADA: Yes, they are, but only as long as they are wanting to have it.

- - Then there are some?

YADA: Yes.

- - But only what they want to reveal is there?

YADA: Yes. Now, the electronic substance that goes to make up the disc - the mode of motion - these electronic fields are different than in the substances you have. They have created electronic fields in the atom of their world that is a chain system. The linking together of these molecules is of such tensile strength that no known force that you have can break these apart - to cause a cut or break in the substance.

- - We do not know how to arrange it to make the metal that way?

YADA: So that perhaps would only cause a breakdown in their own selves and not in the substance - which is going now to the razor and the pyramid business - any edge has its own magnetic field - any object has magnetic field - now if you have wire or tape recorder - this has a field which receives vibrations on it. The edge of the razor is being magnetic field - this field of the pyramid is not changed - there is no breakdown or change of magnetic field in the edge of the razor - thereby no oxidation.

- - It will not oxidize under the pyramid?

YADA: That is right.

- - Does the object have to be in any particular position?

YADA: Not necessarily so. You may find better results by putting the razor long side pointing north and south - this will help but not more than that.

- - Are the proportions of the pyramid important? Should they follow the proportions of the Great Pyramid - or does that matter?

YADA: Yes, I think so, because the Great Pyramid is built on the law of the triangle.

- - You said if a razor was used it could be placed under a pyramid and become sharpened?

- - There is no change in the edge after putting under the pyramid? Is oxidization & modulation of the magnetic field induced by the pyramid?

YADA: This was known by the builders of the Pyramids - they build up certain alignment with bodies in space.

- - Is there an optimum matter from which these pyramids should be made? Paper or metal?

YADA: I should not use plastic -

PROF. L: The male and the female - not only in modern times but going back in history we find the same - Napoleon, Alexander the Great - and the other so-called great men - would have been less great without their Josephines - I think man scramble himself - he is urged physiologically to pursue not the female but gratification, and were he pursuing the woman as a woman that would be quite all right; but largely he pursues her for momentary gratification and in so doing he kills her soul - kills her desires - kills his own desire or falls so far short he continues to pursue - now he should realize that first to stimulate her desire would be to stimulate his own, and both would get a greater amount of satisfaction than otherwise - is that not right?

- - From time to time I have heard you talk about various diseases and medicines, and so on, and have seen you do a good job of diagnosis, and would like to ask a personal question. For about two months now I have been troubled with a very terrible headache which is quite unlike anything I have ever experienced and does not seem to tie in with anything. Could you give me some idea of what is causing it?

PROF.L: Yes. A general constriction of the sympathetic nerve system - around the neck and shoulders and around over the eyes. This constriction is caused by an inner and eating disappointment about your state of advancement which is not at all where you want to be. And attracting the individuals that you desire to attract and keep in your surrounding - and lack of proper female attraction for you, for your type, one that would better fulfill your inner desire than your outer ones. It is in other words your sympathetic nervous system.

- - I have become aware of that - it is a matter of biding my time. Have tried forces and have often had an inspired effect from bathing in ocean water. Is this beneficial?

PROF.L: Yes. I would suggest you complete one thing and get something out of it. See that it is completed and get as much satisfaction out of - you will be relieved of strain because your headaches are entirely somatic.

- - I get information - from within or without I don't know - regarding developments of things in the physical world and wonder if it is mystical phenomena or high imagination.

PROF.L: That does not matter. The thing that does matter is how valuable are the things you get. If they are usable then good for you. And if it is being passed into your mind by a discarnate being that is good also - you should not give a damn - but you should examine to see if it is valuable.

- - Everything has worked exactly as it came to me and everything has been of some use in the real world. But some are so astounding as to be unbelievable and these things require an expression in this world different from mine.

PROF.L: You are like most individuals of your type. You are not a salesman of personality and you might invent a most remarkable machine - and to my mind the most important machine would be to create beautiful females no end because sex seems to be the dominating mental force. So even though you could produce a machine like that, no one would listen to you because you have not the ability to sell your personality. You have a fine personality but lack this ability. I would suggest that when you feel you have something, that you try to contact someone with a given amount of honesty that would take your design or instrument or invention before the proper authorities. Don't try to do it yourself or you will never accomplish it.

- - We have another problem, and that is the problem of economics. Some good things are destroyed because they will disrupt our economy.

- - You might be able to help me. I have found spots on my body which I thought -

PROF.L: You are mentally tense. Like this gentleman's headache, your nervous system is reproducing skin condition from the tenseness of lengthy duration. The nerves cause the pores to discharge an acid substance to the surface of the skin, irritating it, causing you to want to scratch - and that makes it worse. You might use salve but that would only strike the surface. Somewhere back in your early childhood you were given the impression that you were not going to be much in this world and you have feeling of insecurity. The outer self has probably forgotten it but the inner self grabbed it and held on to it and kept it neatly tied up for a time until now at this stage it is slowly coming out in the form of itching.

- - Insecurity - inferiority - fear itself -

PROF.L: Our limits depend upon whom we are dealing with. There are some whom God Almighty could do nothing for. But you, sir, he will in time do great wonders for - (so I do say it myself). You must realize there is no such condition as security, no one has it. That word is a horrible bait that has been given to the female so that she passes it on to the male when she gives herself in marriage to him. No one has security. I would not want it. Should I feel safe, secure, I would be bored. I would like something dangerous to happen to make me seem more alive in this world of yours. There is nothing to be concerned about but living in each moment to the highest point of satisfaction you can get out of it. One's acts are neither good nor evil - the question is are you enjoying yourself. Is it a pleasure to live or a pain in the neck. That is the question and the only one you need ever ask yourself - am I enjoying this moment of my existence - this moment is my entire existence. Should I live it or let anyone else live it. That depends on how you feel about one. Many would want to live it for you. When you realize that only this moment is important - only then will you throw off the shackles of what someone else thinks. Do not concern yourself with it. It is not worthy of your time, your self. Society, the communal life, that man is forced to live, ties him down to all manner of impossible conditions entirely abnormal to him as an individual. Each and every one of us is separate unit unto ourselves. All the actions within the body drive us in a certain way, and if we are given a guilt complex over what we are driven to do or moved to do then we shall grow more tense and more withdrawn and acquire more diseases of the body, and then we shall die and no one shall give a damn because no one is going to die for us. They do however want to live for us. This is your life. Live it. One of my defenses toward restrictions was growing a beard! Change is the only substantial law of life. - - You may do yourself a bit of benefit by this and I think it would be good for a time to indulge in some form of concentrated vitamin.

- end -

Dear Jerry:

Attached hereto is a telegram from a prominent gentleman of Twentynine Palms, California, which is self-explanatory.

It is my understanding that The President is going to Palm Springs for a rest; hence, I don't anticipate that he will be accepting invitations of this character. However, if he should be, as a representative of the citizens of Twentynine Palms I would be most appreciative if he could accept the invitation.

Will you please advise me?

Thanking you for courtesies extended, I am

Yours sincerely,
