Dear Sir:

I was intrigued by a statement in the letter from Dr. J.V. Wright (Letters, Feb. 22) regarding the Journal's series on Erich von Daniken's "Gods from Outer Space". He says "as a general rule archeologists ignore such fantasy publications". How do they know they are fantasy if they ignore them? To ignore something yet brand it as fantasy is also "completely unscientific" and "undocumented and unproven".

Yours sincerely,

Fantasies
