

"Okay, we'll go along with free trade. What do you want me to give us?"

"Someone here is trying to contact Sherlock Holmes..."

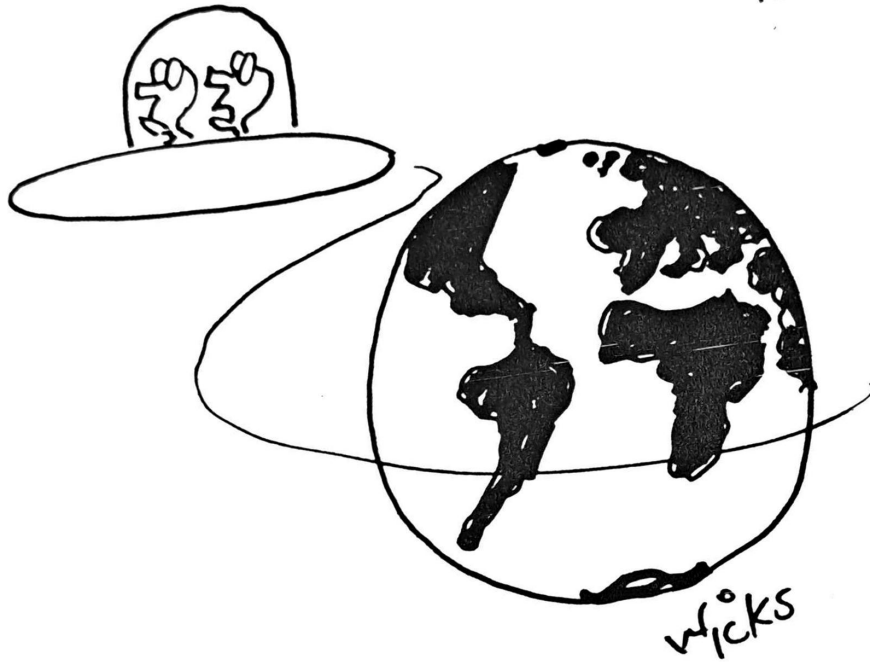

"After telling him there were no riots, he continued to film the riot."

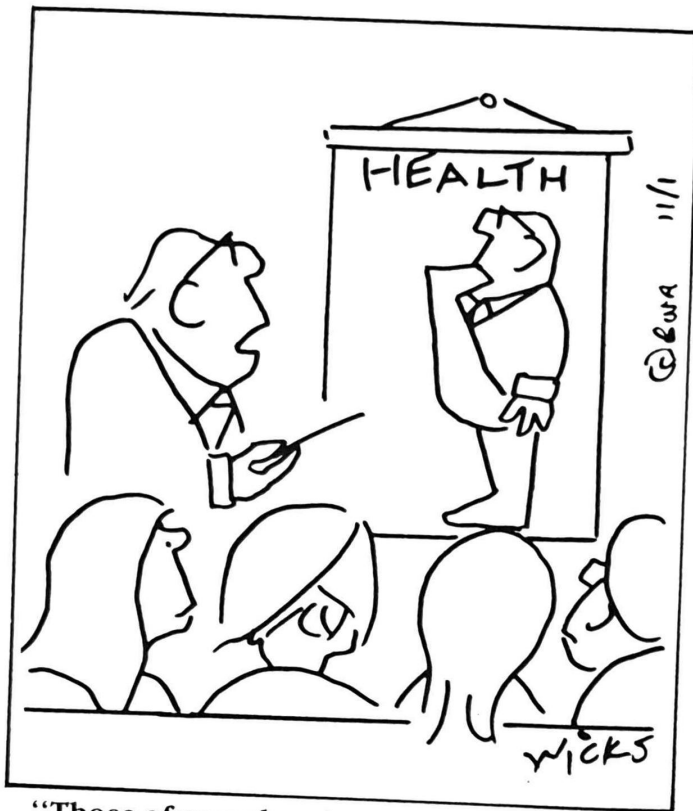

"Pssst! Wanna buy a secret?"

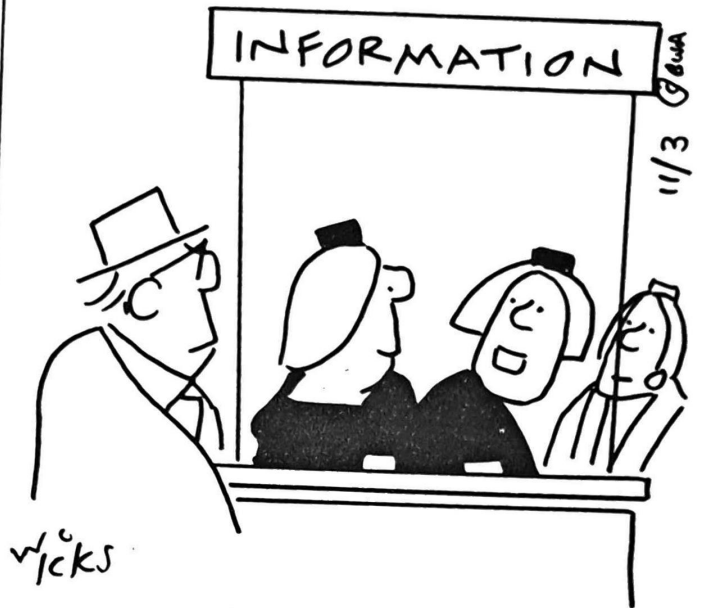

2/27

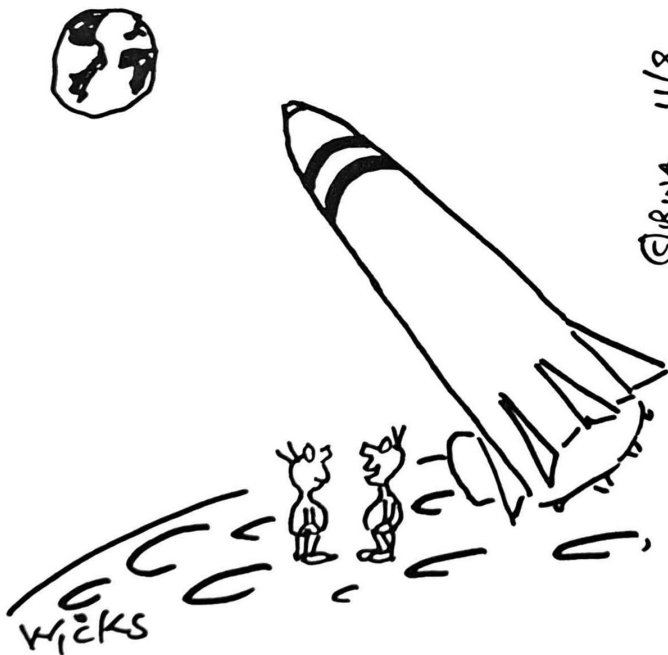

"You see. I told you there would be no form of intelligent life."

"Those of you planning a career in politics will find this disease quite interesting."

"Just for a laugh, try some disinformation."

"We'll wait for them to sign their disarmament agreement then let it rip."

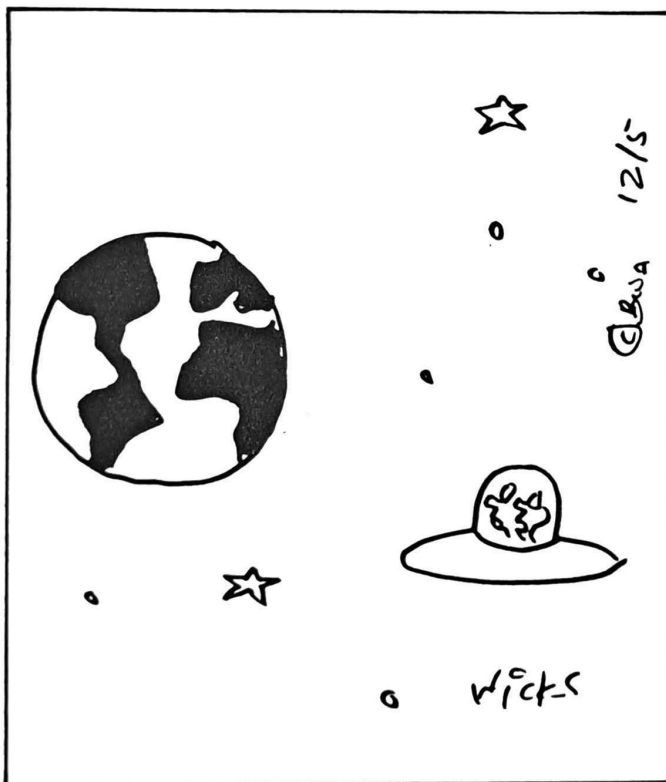

"Yippee! No more dieting!"

"Good evening. There was no news today and this is Knowlton Nash reading it."

"Did the Jones' cat send our cat one last year?"

"Better do what their tourists are doing. Avoid the Middle East."

"Isn't that nice? Reagan has included a 'Peace on earth, goodwill to all men' card."

"Have you considered writing a book?"

"I know they're harmful but I still can't kick the habit."

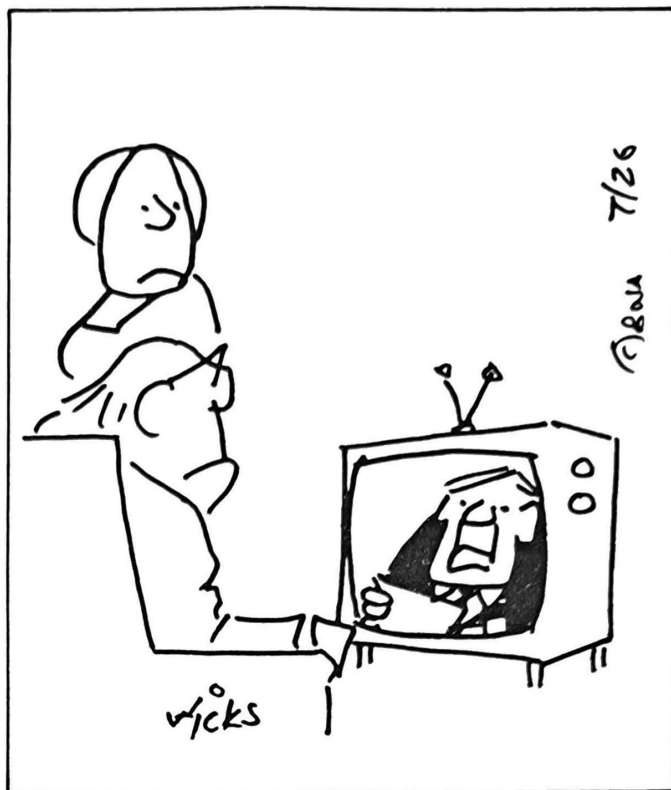

"Smoking or non-smoking?"

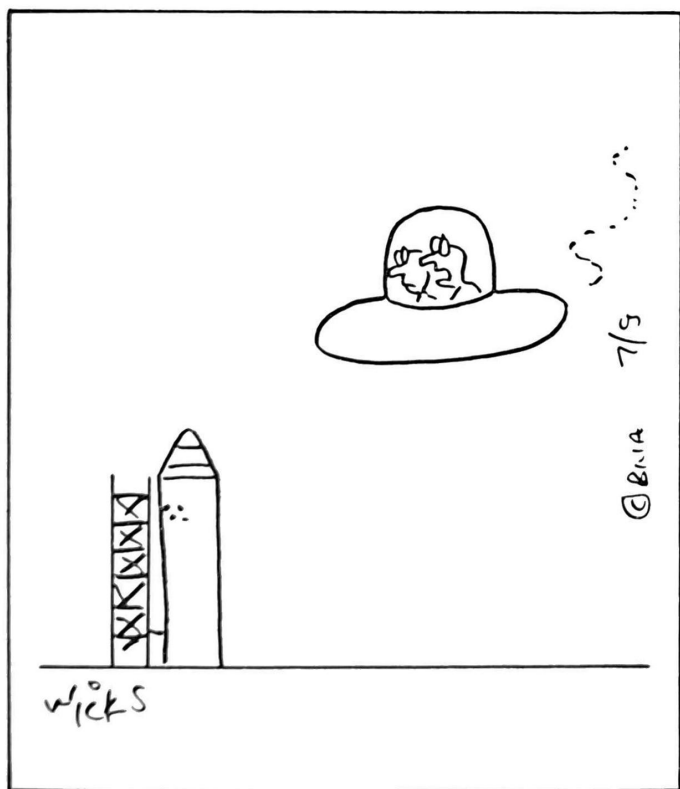

"They now have proof that Waldheim is Hitler without a moustache."

"The following news bulletin has just been handed to me . . . oh my God!"

"Orders or no orders, I still say we land and tell them where they went wrong."

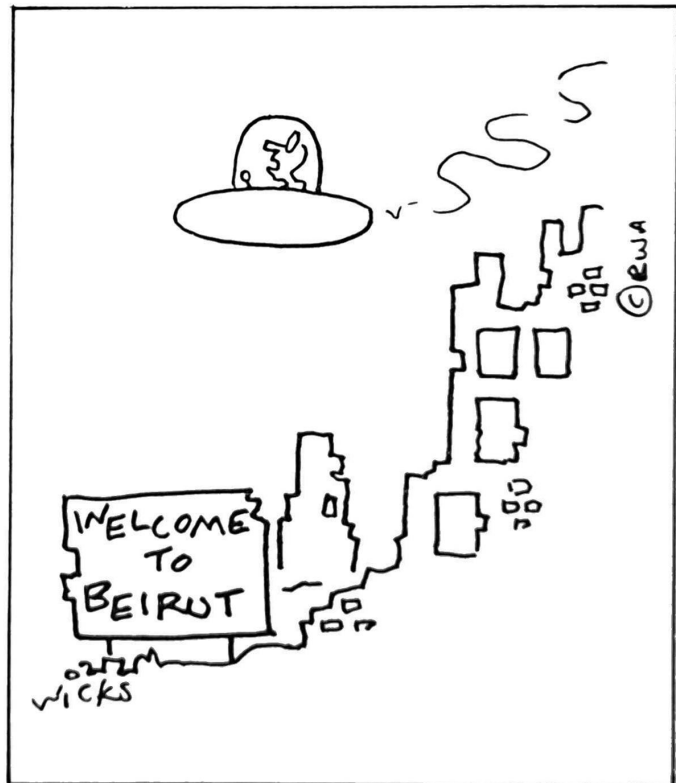

"Of course it isn't necessary, but an appendix transplant would be a first."

"It can do the work of two men or one woman."

"It had to happen. I knew he'd forget it one morning if it wasn't screwed on."

"XTU to Pluto from Earth. No sign of intelligent life . . . over!"

"Some guy named Ed McMahon wants to give you $10 million, whatever they are."

"Don't tell me. I know the face. You're . . ."

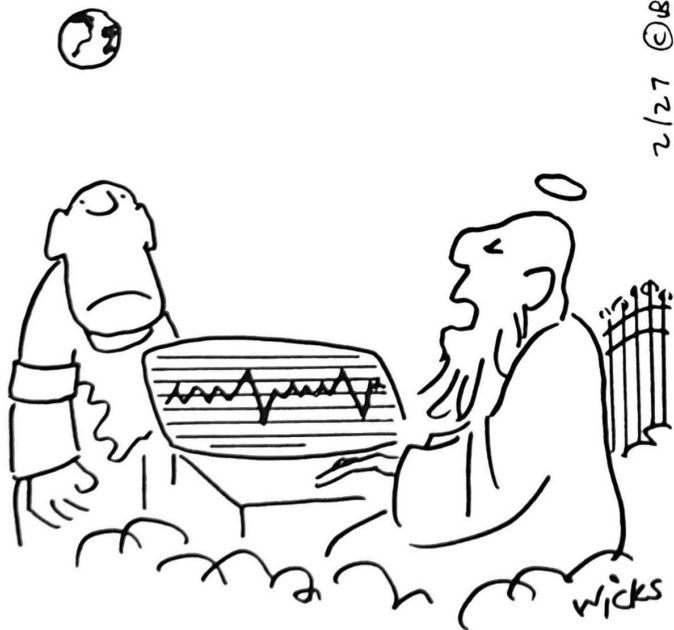

"Okay, we'll agree to another spy swap, but how do I know you're not a real tree?"

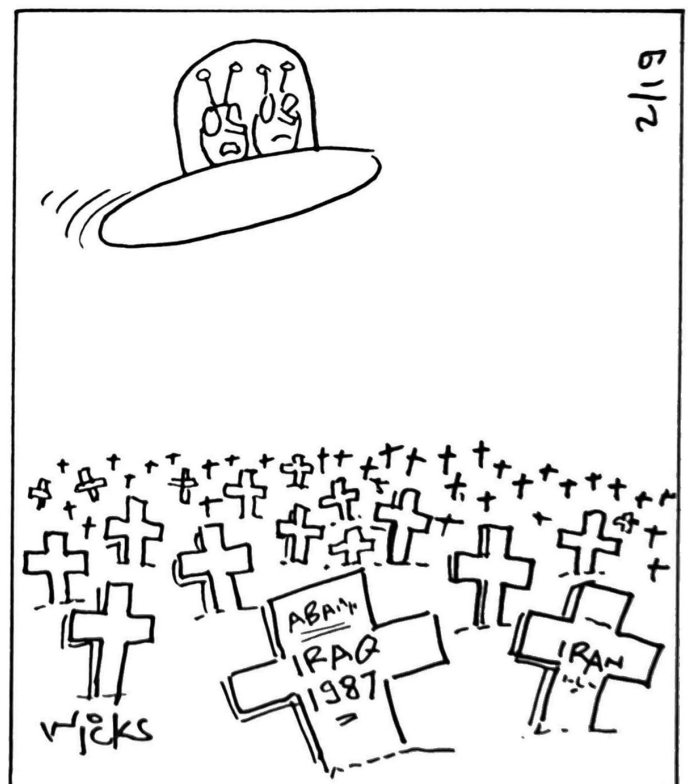

"Heil, Uranus."

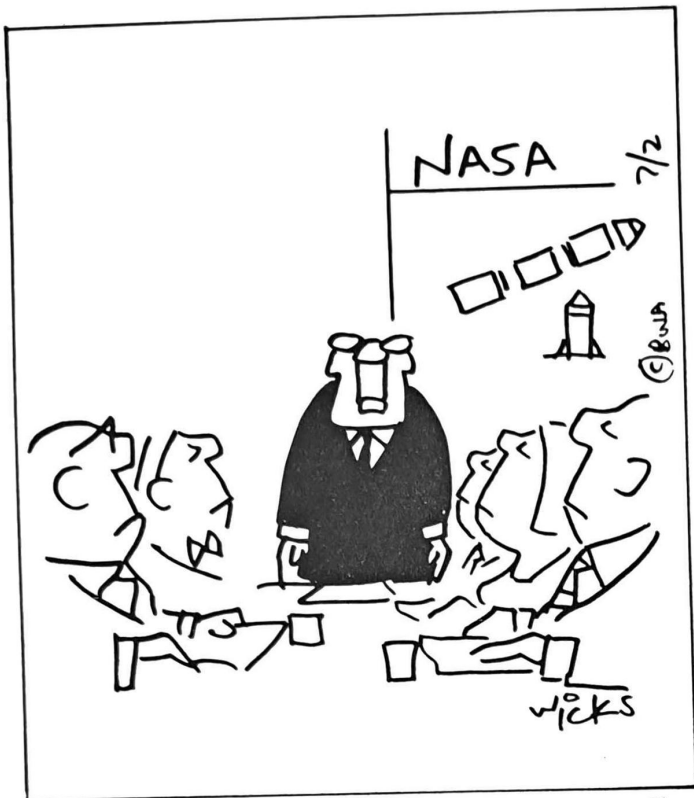

"Someone told him he could see Halley's Comet with the naked eye."

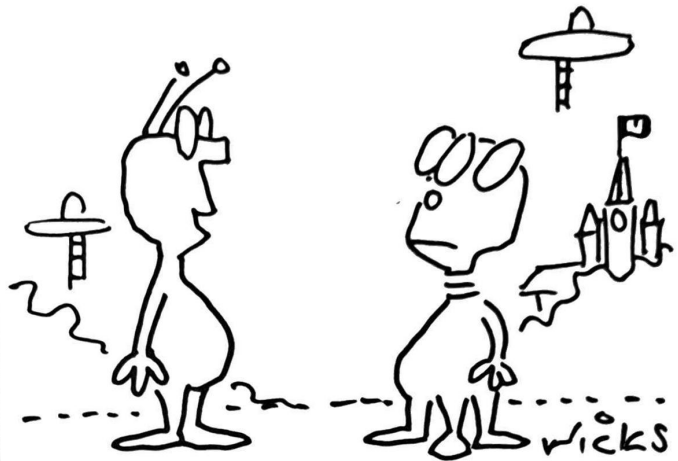

"On October 30, 1965, you lied about your travel expenses. True or false?"

"Strange. I was told that earth people had two legs."

"It's agreed then. No more space shots until whomever we blame gets their act together."

"Gee, I'd love to help, but I'm just a visitor myself."

"Terrorists or no terrorists, I still say we should have taken the trip."

"You'll have to cancel the operation. The patient has gone on strike."