Dear Dr. Vogel:

I assure you that the President's teeth are his own; according to his physician they are exceptionally strong and sturdy.

Dear Mr. Eisenhower,

On the cover of the 25th of October's issue of NEWSWEEK Magazine I saw your picture.

Since I am very much interested in the Dentistry Profession, I noticed your beautiful teeth. After studying them I asked Dr. Semonsen if he thought they were your own teeth or dentures. After a lenghty discussion, I told him I was going to find out for myself to satisfy my curiosity by writing to you personally. I hope you do not think me bold by asking such a personal question but now we are both anxiously waiting your reply.

Also we both wish you all the success you deserve during your term of office as President of the United States.

Respectfully yours,

Elvira M. Vogel
