Dear Mr. Bray:

Replying to your letter of August 29th.
You will remember the explanation given of the radiation, or force field, emanating from the skins of the ships.
These serve as protective fields around the ship, deflecting other objects from hitting the ships.

In other words, this is a humanly controlled artificial atmosphere and serves the identical purpose around the ship that the natural atmosphere serves around the planet. In this way, it was as easy and as safe to walk across the top of the ship, as it is to walk across the surface of a planet.

This is the simplest way Mr. Adamski has of explaining this point, although he also uses many others, long and detailed. We hope we have given you a clear explanation.

Mr. Adamski would have answered personally if he were home, but he is now away on an extended lecture tour.

Very sincerely,

Lucy McGinnis
