

particularly when all three are combined, rather than each type being considered in isolation.

Another form of ~~acceptable~~ evidence is documentary evidence, and it is also acceptable in a court of law, and can hang a person.

Why should such evidence not then be acceptable for our purposes if it is official documentation from an official organization such as a government, or a scientific group?

I want you to be aware of some of my sources of information. I do ~~not~~ rely on the pulp magazines found in the corner store.

In fact, I ignore them. I rely to a large extent on the official papers of governments, the military, security organizations, and scientific
