

GREEN FIRE BALLS

They were, for the first time by Adamski, labelled as "an outerspace means for cleansing our earth atmosphere", handled by our spacebrothers". I checked this from the letters GA wrote to me previous to his first visit to Europe (1959), which was about 1957. At about the same time, so I figure they got it from the same source, or the one copied it from the other, MARGARET STORM wrote in "Return of the Dove"(1957), quote:-

"Day and night, night & day, the atmosphere we breathe is being constantly cleansed of radioactivity by the spacepeople. It has been said that all life would have ceased to exist abt. 4 years ago (1953) had it not been for the constant cleansing by the spacepeople. This is handled in several ways. At intervals a space station orbits the earth (mysterious non terrestrial satellites???) and bombards it with mys, counteracting contamination. The GREEN FIRE BALLS which are so often seen, are manufactured on planet MARS and sent hurling to earth from spaceships. They cleanse the air close to the ground in areas where spaceships, if they ventured on their mission of mercy, would be fired upon by our aircraft (X) However, in certain cases the spaceships can be sent over areas where there are strong concentrations of r.a. particles, which areas are decontaminated by rays beamed from spac ships"...(unquote)

So I take it, that green fireballs are only used instead of spaceships beaming cleansing rays, at low altitude (danger zone!). The whole story runs parallel with Adamski, so there is no saying whether or not it is true. Since the stinking business of the all-confusing "Saturn trip" I have become very critical, although it may be true that such cleansing service does exist, particularly, if we use our common sense, over areas where nuclear explosions have taken place, i.e. Siberia, the Pacific, North Pole, Nevada desert. Have you tried these UFO groups (Russians don't cooperate but the Swedes may come in handy, although I have no reliable connections over there, I may ask APRO for details).

Furthermore I read somewhere in a french UFO paper, that green fireballs have been observed particularly over the whole of the SW-area of the USA while Dr. Lincoln LA PAZ, head dept. of Meteoric Studies of the university of New Mexico, has made a special study of them. You might refer to him. Why exactly the SW-area of the USA??? I wonder....
