income by beachcombing, covered the area ^{quite} pretty thoroughly the first day or so of July.

Then came about three days of rain during which time he did not work the area.

When the weather cleared, he found the two pieces of metal on the shale beach.

Disposition of the metal

The finder, unable to handle the larger, loaded the small, 800 lb. piece and sold it for one cent a pound to a scrap metal dealer in Quebec City, where it was erroneously classified as non-ferrous metal. The large magnetic crane, used for handling the scrap, would not lift the metal due to its low magnetic permeability, so it was pushed into a pile of non-ferrous scrap and eventually shipped to Japan.

0. No. 7, Roseman of the find reached Canadian Arsenal Research and Development Establishment (CARDE) in the area, who, thinking it might have been part of a space capsule,
