I owned a press camera and a 35 mm camera and used them to take pictures for the magazine when needed. I handled most of the business affairs of the magazine and sold advertising for it. When Pacific Patrol really began to make money after the Korean war started I hired an assistant editor, a bookkeeper-stenographer and an advertising salesman. This allowed me to devote more time to the management and planning side of the business. The partner kept the books.

4 A. While managing Pacific Publishing Co. I produced two weekly radio programs on KHON. One was called Pacific Patrol Magazine on the Air. This was a half-hour, Saturday night variety program of recorded popular music, news, commentary and celebrity interviews directed primarily toward service men stationed in the Islands. This ran for nine months and required about 2 hrs. of preparation and broadcast time per week. The other program was called Aloha Playhouse, a series of 15 min. dramatic programs which ran to 32 consecutive performances. These were tape-recorded on Wednesday nights for rebroadcast Sunday evenings. I wrote the scripts, cast the plays from try-outs of would-be actors and actresses, directed the performances, recorded them, and edited the tapes for broadcast. Production time required for each complete broadcast, about 8 hrs.

6 A. While working for KHON I joined the Hawaii National Guard and was assigned immediately to the Public Relations Office, Hdq & Hdq Detachment, Major Wm. C. Meyer in command. When the PIO resigned three months after I joined the Guard in Nov. 1948, the full duties of the office fell on me, a Pfc! Duties on Guard nights included clipping and filing pertinent press notices from Island newspapers, writing press releases and radio releases on Guard activities, especially for recruiting purposes, making inspection trips to other Islands with Guard officers to get material for said releases, writing dramatic and/or documentary radio programs for National Guard recruiting and special, National holiday programs. For business reasons I received an Honorable Discharge from the Guard after serving 1 yr. and 9 mo. of a three year enlistment. Average working time, 4 hours per week.

7 (Cont.) informative nature adapted to local needs and voices. I wrote and voiced a "United Nations News" program over KHON and the Aloha Network. I trained committee members to help me with this, coaching them in speech for radio and the public, and wrote speeches for them. I also wrote news releases on our weekly United Nations meetings in the Community Room of the Y.W.C.A. Average time: 8 hrs. per week.

11 (Cont.) professional announcing. With the use of my own tape recorder and an electric phonograph, complete programs were produced in the class room and played back for instruction purposes.

12. For the last seven months of my enlistment in the U.S.Army I was assigned to the Pacific edition of the Army daily newspaper, Stars & Stripes, published in Honolulu. I was circulation man and staff writer. My duty areas were Pearl Harbor, Okinawa, Guam and Saipan, with a month or so on each. I had to find enlisted men to distribute papers in my assigned areas and also wrote such news stories of the on and off duty activities of the enlisted men as I could turn in in my spare time.
I trained with the Army Engineers at Camp Abbott, Oregon and also went to the specialist school there, coming out as a clerk-typist. First assignment overseas, after landing in Hawaii Oct. 10, 1944, was Chaplain's Assistant in the Signal Corps.

13. My pre-World War II experience and employment on the mainland was almost entirely industrial. This included four years with the Minneapolis-Honeywell Co. as a storekeeper and inspector, and two years with the Vega Aircraft Corp., Burbank, Calif., as a production controller and dispatcher. This background bears little direct relation to the position for which I am applying at the present time. In Minneapodis I attended an evening school for radio announcing and in Hollywood, while working for Vega, I studied radio acting at Talent Showcase, Inc.
For security purposes, as far as the Federal Government is concerned, I was cleared on all my pre-World War II experience and employment while working in the wartime job at Vega in 1942.

This details my industrial experience from 1933 to 1943, only briefly referred to in xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx my Form 57 presently on file.

As a Production Controller I planned production on assemblies and sub-assemblies of B-17 bomber, working from government contract delivery rate. I also helped make schedules for manufactured parts in the machine shop - 12 months.
I then transferred from office to shop as a Dispatcher, helping to speed the flow manufactured parts through the shops to the stock rooms and assembly lines; work from rush orders and from the listings of "hot jobs" on the production control boards set up by the day shift. - 10 months.

No longer needed extra money, got tired of the strain.

While working Graveyard shift as Dispatcher at Vega I felt real patriotic and decided to help relieve shortage of bus drivers in Los Angeles. After taking the examination for a California Bus Driver and Chauffeur license, and passing, and after a couple of days of training, I was given the downtown to LaBrea run on Beverly Blvd. during the afternoon rush from 3 to 6pm, five days a week. I drove both the older, gear shift models and the new GM diesel busses.
