Dear Sir.

Responding to your notice in The Post in writing you about a formation of flying saucers I thought they was, I did see on Tuesday the 31 May, about 10 minutes to 12. I am a market fisherman living in a boat house 2 miles north of J street bridge Sacramento. It was 10 minutes to 12 and I was looking out at the clouds, which was almost standing still, suddenly I noticed a square formation of about 16 slowly revolving discs about the same colour as the clouds, flying at aeroplane speed about 5 miles east from where I live and 2500 feet high. The bright California sun though plays pranks and it might be much farther and higher and i am not experienced in distance judging. In a few moments they faded out to reappear farther north faded out again to appear a third time, when they either took a turn to the northeast or grounded. Then i could not spot them again.

There are lots of white cranes around but i never seen them fly in formation in 22 years and never so fast. If they was visible from the ground, somebody in North Sacramento should have seen them.
As i am writing i might inform you, that from year to year there are more brush fires around me and a young fellow with whom i talked some time ago said "There is no doubt, that many of them are sabotage, probably a F B I man."

Cordially Respectfully
