1. This communication confirms information furnished [REDACTED] [REDACTED], Major, AO 421112, Intelligence Officer, 345th Bombardment Wing, Langley Air Force Base, Virginia, on 3 February 1958, relative to an alleged sighting of an unidentified flying object in the vicinity of Salem, Virginia.

2. The 12 January 1958 edition of the Roanoke Times, a daily newspaper published at Roanoke, Virginia, contained the following article:

"Strange Objects Reported in Sky in This Section" One man!

"Strange objects in the sky created concern in the Roanoke Valley area early today. State Police at Salem received a report from a man who reported a large object in the sky with what appeared to be a ball of fire trailing it. He said he saw it about 12:20 A.M. In addition, state police reported that the object or objects had been seen by persons in Floyd County and near Draper in Pulaski. Origin of the strange object was not known early today."

3. On 15 January 1958, Special Agent JOHN R. McNEILL interviewed Mr. [REDACTED], Route 3, Salem, Virginia. [REDACTED] furnished the following information concerning the unidentified flying object which he allegedly sighted on 12 January 1958:

(1) Description of the Object:

- a. Appeared LED 12 round, with a short cone trailing.
- b. Appeared 10-20 feet in diameter, the face of the sphere appeared greening in color, the remaining portion including the trailing cone was fire red. The cone appeared to be a cone of fire given off from the object itself. The cone was about the same length as the object itself.

The Morehead Planetarium, one of the six Zeiss planetariums in the western hemisphere, and the first on any university campus, is open for performances every evening at 8:30; 11:00, 3:00 and 8:30 on Saturday and 3:00, 4:00 and 8:30 on Sunday. The program is changed frequently . . . There is always something new at the Morehead Planetarium. ¶The Morehead Building contains, in addition to the Planetarium, the permanent Art Gallery in the Rotunda, and other galleries devoted to temporary art exhibits. Also, there are halls for scientific exhibits. ¶The 35-foot Copernican orrery, one of only two such installations in the world, is a particularly impressive mechanism.

Dear Sir,

(Jan 11, 1958)

Saturday night as I was traveling U.S. 64 I saw something which puzzled me. It was approximately 12:15 and I was about 2 miles east of Spring Hope, traveling west, when I saw a green object. It seemed to be travelling straight toward the earth and reminded me of a meteor, except that it was very large and had a green color. The speed seemed to be about the same as a meteor. When it seemed to reach the earth, the horizon lighted up as if an explosion had occurred. I couldn't estimate the distance it was from me but it was very large compared to anything I have ever seen fall from the sky.

Several of my friends have also seen things similar to this. Friday night, January 10, my nephew saw something which he described, and it was very similar to what I saw. Two more of my friends have seen green lights at different times. A friend from Rocky Mount saw something green Friday night, but it seemed to be a little different from the rest. All these probably have a very simple explanation, and I would appreciate any help you could give me in finding out what caused these lights. Thank you very much.
