Got out of bed 5:20 am. Looked out west window. Bright light caught my eye from west window, shaped like an iron bar which seemed the length of a box car and no longer than that. It flashed across the sky at unbelievable speed; maybe in sight three or four seconds.
It was red hot the entire length and was heading gradually down ward.
In my opinion it might come down in Maine, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia or the Atlantic Ocean.
